Dear All,

I am writing to request that St. Tammany and Tangipahoa parishes continue to be represented together and that they not be separated as currently under consideration. Our two parishes comprise similar interests. Combining St. Tammany's congressional district instead with parishes in the southern-most region of Louisiana would be impossible for one individual to represent fairly due to differing interests of the parishes. Of course, that may be the intention of some of our representatives (who want to apply the "divide and conquer" philosophy), but our state would not be well-served by division of regions that cannot be adequately represented due to . PLEASE retain "co-districting" of St. Tammany and Tangipahoa parishes (along with part of Jefferson parish) and please do not split them apart. We need solid representation in Washington, D.C..

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth S. Didier
