A child who is taken into custody as a child in need of care shall be placed ~~only in foster care~~ in the home of a suitable relative who is of the age of majority and who is willing to assume such care of the child if such placement is in the best interest of the child. The following are those relatives to whom care of the child may be entrusted and are listed in the order of priority:

(a) Grandparent.

(b) Aunt or uncle.

(c) Sibling.

(d) Cousin.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary and prior to the continued custody hearing required in Article 624, any relative designated in this Paragraph may seek and obtain an ex parte court order to take immediate physical custody of the child under the provisions and requirements of this Paragraph and pending the continued custody hearing. The provisions of Code of Civil Procedure Article 3945 are inapplicable to an ex parte order rendered pursuant hereto.

B. Exception. A child shall be placed in a foster care home or facility approved by the department only if:

(1) No ex parte court order has been rendered pursuant to Paragraph A of this Article.

(2) The continued custody hearing has been held, the court has continued the child in the custody of the department, and the court has made a specific finding, by clear and convincing evidence, that the placement of the child with a relative seeking physical custody of the child is not in the best interest of the child.

C. The department shall supervise the child's placement for the duration of the time the department has custody of the child.

D. In the event that a child is placed with nonrelatives pursuant to Paragraph B of this Article, any suitable relative of the age of majority may petition the court for the physical custody of the child.

* * *

Art. 627. Continued custody order

A. Following a hearing, the court may return the child to the parents, continue the child in the custody of the department, or place the legal custody of the child with a suitable person, preferably a relative. If the court continues the child in the custody of the department and a suitable relative of the child is seeking the physical custody of the child, the court shall grant the relative physical custody unless the court has made a specific finding, by clear and convincing evidence, that such placement is not in the best interest of the child. The court shall give specific oral and written reasons for its findings, which shall be made a part of the record of the proceeding. For purposes of this Paragraph, a relative includes any person listed in Article 622(A)(1) who shall be given priority in the designated order, and also includes any other relative although not included in the order of priority.
