§3511. Scope

* * *

F. All consumer credit transactions shall comply with federal Regulation Z of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Failure to comply with Regulation Z is a violation of this Chapter.

* * *

§3514. Agreement to contract; disclosures of the contract

A. The parties to a transaction other than a consumer credit transaction may contract with one another that such transactions shall be subject to the provisions of this Chapter, in which event the transaction shall be a consumer credit transaction within the provisions of this Chapter. However, a licensed lender under this Chapter, who is not at the same time licensed under R.S. 6:951 et seq., may not contract a class one retail installment transaction subject to R.S. 6:951 et seq. under the provisions of this Chapter. This restriction shall apply only to licensed lenders under this Chapter, who are not at the same time licensed under R.S. 6:951 et seq., and shall not apply to supervised financial organizations that are exempt from licensing under both statutes. Unless a creditor is exempt from the licensing requirements of this Chapter under R.S. 9:3560, a creditor may not contract more than four transactions under the provisions of this Chapter over any calendar year without first complying with the licensing requirements under Part IX of this Chapter.

* * *

§3517. Terms; construction; additional fees and charges

* * *

C. Except to the extent specifically limited in amount or prohibited by this Chapter, an extender of credit may impose and collect additional fees and charges contractually provided for under the consumer's promissory note or credit agreement. Those fees and charges that are not considered to be finance charges for Federal Truth in Lending purposes shall not be considered to be loan finance charges or credit service charges for purposes of this Chapter. The commissioner shall prescribe, by rule not inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter, additional fees and charges which may be imposed and collected by an extender of credit if such fees and charges have been contractually provided for in the consumer's promissory note, or credit contract or agreement.

* * *
§3521. Maximum charges after negotiations

A. The obligation arising out of any consumer credit sale, including a revolving charge account, may be evidenced by a written agreement which may provide for a credit service charge not in excess of the maximum loan finance charge which could be charged, contracted for, or received by a supervised financial organization, lender who files notification pursuant to R.S. 9:3564, or licensed lender in a consumer loan transaction where the principal is the same as the amount financed and the term is a corresponding term.

B. Such written agreement must be transferred or assigned to a supervised financial organization, lender who files notification pursuant to R.S. 9:3564, or a licensed lender within thirty-five days from the date of making. If such written agreement is not so transferred or assigned within the said time limit, the seller or holder shall:

* * *

§3528. Maximum deferral charges

A. With respect to a precomputed consumer credit transaction payable in more than one installment, the parties before or after default may agree in writing to a deferral of all or part of one or more unpaid installments, and the extender of credit may make and collect a charge not exceeding the rate previously stated to the consumer calculated without regard to differences in the lengths of months, but proportionately for a part of a month, counting each day as one-thirtieth of a month. A deferral charge may be collected at the time it is assessed or at any time thereafter. Deferral charges on a precomputed consumer credit transaction may be computed on a pro rata basis or any other method of calculation that does not yield a greater sum than the maximum rates permitted in this Chapter. In lieu of the above, the entire unpaid balance of the transaction may be deferred by charging an amount equal to the rate previously stated to the consumer times the balance at the time of deferral for the period of deferral. In such a case, the transaction maturity date will be extended by the number of months that the balance is deferred.

B. The parties may agree in writing at the time of a precomputed consumer credit transaction that if an installment is not paid within ten days after its due date, the extender of credit may unilaterally grant a deferral and make charges as provided in this Section, provided the transaction consists of more than one installment. No deferral charge may be made for a period after the date that the extender of credit elects to accelerate the maturity of the agreement. A delinquency charge made by the extender of credit on an installment may not be retained if a deferral charge is made pursuant to this Section with respect to the period of delinquency.
