>(i) Participates or is eligible to participate, upon the satisfaction of age, service, or similar eligibility criteria, in a plan that is an employee welfare benefit plan or an employee pension plan under which plan benefits are payable to the employee;

>(ii) Is an employee with key administrative, managerial, technical, or professional duties and whose current income was ninety thousand dollars or greater on an annualized basis in the year the coverage is first issued, or whose compensation is within the top thirty-five percent of employees of the employer obtaining coverage; or

>(iii) Is an individual, nonhourly employee who is in the highest thirty-five percent by compensation of the employees of the company or any subsidiary;

>(b) An employer shall obtain written consent of the insured individual. The consent shall include an acknowledgment that the employer may maintain the coverage even after the insured individual’s employment has terminated.

>(c) An employer shall not retaliate in any manner against an employee or a retired employee for the refusal to consent to be insured.

>(d) For any non-key or nonmanagerial employee, the total amount of coverage under this Paragraph shall be reasonably related to the benefits provided to the employees in the aggregate.

>(e) The life insurance coverage purchased to finance an employer-provided pension and welfare benefit plan shall be allowed only on the lives of those employees and retirees who have a reasonable expectation of benefitting from the plan at the time their lives are first insured under the plan.

>(5) An employer shall have an insurable interest in an individual if, at the time the employer is designated as a policy beneficiary, the insured is an individual director of such company or subsidiary.
