Dear Mr. Speaker:

In response to your verbal request for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the delegate's oath contained in Act 2, Section 5 of 1972, the opinion of this effice is as follows:

The oath of office taken by each delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1973 on January 5, 1973 was the oath prescribed by Act 2 of 1972:

"I hereby solemnly swear that I will support the constitution and laws of the United States; that I will well and faithfully perform all duties as a member of the convention. and that I will observe and obey the limitation of authority contained in the Act under which this convention has assembled, So help me God."

Article XIX, Section 1 of the 1921 Constitution prescribes the oath to be taken by all "officers" of the State:

do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution and laws of the United States and the Constitution and laws of this State; and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1973, according to the best of my ability and understanding. So help me God." (underscored words supplied)

It is the opinion of this office that the oath prescribed by Act 2 of 1972 is in substantial compliance with the constitutional oath of Article XIX, Section 1. That is, both oaths state that the delegate shall support the Constitution and laws of the United States. The oath in Act 2 of 1972 does not, however, call upon each delegate to swear that he will support the Constitution and laws of Louisiana as the oath in the 1921 Constitution does. Nevertheless, the oath in Act 2 of 1972 does prescribe that the delegate shall "observe and obey the limitation of authority contained in the Act." This is, in effect, a statement that the delegate will uphold the laws of Louisiana. And by so stating, the delegate does state that he will uphold the 1921 Constitution because there would be no law (for example, no Act 2 of 1972) without the Constitution.

Section 1(A)(3) of Act 2 of 1972 divides delegates into two distinct classes. Delegates who are elected are called "state elected officials" and delegates who are appointed are called "state employees". They are classified as such for the purposes of the state statutes regarding Governmental Ethics (R.S. 42:1101 et seq.) and public bribery. The remainder of Act 2 of 1972 is absolutely silent as to any other classification of delegates. Therefore, the absence of any other classification of elected delegates other than as "state elected officials" does not exclude the possibility that they are "state elected officials" for other purposes.

Article XIX, Section 1 of the 1921 Constitution declares that "All officers before entering upon (emphasis supplied) the duties of their offices shall take" (emphasiss supplied) the prescribed oath (quoted above). The Constitution does not distinguish between elected officials for one purpose (for example, governmental ethics) and many purposes. Elected delegates being classified as "elected officials" may there-fore be considered officers of the state for purposes of the Constitution. Accordingly, all elected delegates must take an oath. There is no provision of law requiring state employees to take any oath except in cases of which provision has been specifically made by state statute. Accordingly, appointed delegates who are classified as "state employees" under Act 2 of 1972 need take only the oath prescribed by that Act, namely, the oath taken by all delegates of the Constitutional Convention on January 5, 1973.

In light of the oath prescribed by the 1921 Constitution and the clear unequivocal language that all officers "shall take" the oath therein prescribed, and because Act 2 of 1972 classifies elected delegates as "state elected officials" for at least two purposes (thereby not excluding the possibility of their being "officers" for other purposes), it is recommended as a precaution that each elected delegate take the oath in Article XIX, Section 1 of the 1921 Constitution.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM J. GUSTE, JR. Attorney General

WJGjr:cc

P.S. After taking the oath, a resolution could be introduced as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED that the delegates to the Louisiana Constitutional Convention do hereby re-enact, re-affirm and adopt as their own and as the Act of the Convention, every act taken at the meeting of elected delegates held on January 5, 1973 including but not limited to the roll call of delegates, the swearing of delegates and all other acts taken by said delegates as members of the Louisiana Constitutional Convention from that time to the present.

At the suggestion of the Chair the following oath of office as prescribed under Article XIX, Sec. 1 of the 1921 Constitution was administered to the delegates enumerated thereunder by the Hon. Wade O. Martin, Secretary of State:

_____ do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution and laws of the United States and the Constitution and laws of this State; and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1973, according to the best of my ability and understanding. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that such existing closed circuit television facilities shall be made available only when not in use for the purposes for which they are operated and on an hourly cost basis for line charges and personnel time which shall be determined by the Executive Committee of this Constitutional Convention and, further, that such facilities shall be made available only upon request by the respective committee chairmen made prior to the date on which such use is required and then only for necessary discussions relative to the work assigned to the committee making the request and in no case for general discussion meetings which would demand more time than use of lines respective committee or sub-committee. 1. This is an interim report, to be followed by a more detailed report which will be submitted to the Constitutional Convention at a later date.

2. The committee recommends that no levee district be accorded Constitutional status, such as is presently granted to the Orleans and Pontchartrain levee districts. In this connection, the committee recognizes that the Constitution now provides protection to the bondholders of those outstanding bonds which have been issued by these two districts, and it is necessary that continued protection be granted to all such bondholders. On the other hand, the committee is of the opinion that the full faith and credit of the state could be placed behind the bonds by simple legislative Act, rather than by placing a provision in the new Constitution.

3. The committee is continuing its study as to the legislative changes which should be made and its report on same will be issued at a later date. The committee urges the Convention also to study this area. The extensive files of the committee are located in the offices of the Legislative Council, and will be made available to the Convention upon request at any time.

Respectfully submitted, JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON REORGANIATION OF LEVEE DISTRICTS

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, 1973

Notes to Projected Estimated Expenses

- 1. Per diem based upon 100% attendance.
- 2. Includes arbitrary contingency figures.
- 3. Assumed that verbatim transcripts can be handled by regular clerical staff. Illinois budgeted $10,000.00 for this purpose but expended $61,815.00. Michigan expended $85,000.00 for a verbatim record.
- Does not include an amount for electronic voting equipment. The 1961-62 Michigan Constitutional Convention experienced a cost of $25,000.00 for electronic voting equipment.
- Does not include an amount for postage for general convention business or any allowance for postage for committees or delegates. Illinois allowed each delegate a postage allowance of $120.00. Such an arrangement in CC/73 would amount to $15,840.00.
- Does not include an amount for operation and use of microphones, sound equipment and recording equipment or the cost of supplies in connection therewith.
- Does not include an amount for a referendum election which is estimated to cost approximately $1,100,000.00.
   This is considered a decision of the Executive Department and not subject to budgeting by CC/73.
- An amount of $1,000.00 to publish the daily journal of each Convention meeting has been budgeted. Michigan expended $101,905.00 for printing their journal.
- 9. No provision has been made for telephone toll calls.10. The number of meetings will have a profound effect by
- either increasing or decreasing the cost of CC/73.

  11. Does not include the value of goods or services contributed or to be contributed by other governmental departments of the State of Louisiana.
- 12. A full month's salary for all staff members has been budgeted for the month of February, 1973 but at this date it seems apparent that the majority of the staff will not commence work until sometime after February 1, 1973.

A RESOLUTION

Relative to the use of existing Louisiana Hospital Television Network Facilities by the Louisiana Constitutional Convention of 1973, acting through its committees.

WHEREAS, it is of vital importance to the success of the work of this convention that its committees have the benefit of the knowledge, wisdom and opinion of all of the citizens of Louisiana and that methods be evolved which permit ease of access to such persons regardless of their place of residence within the state; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the public meetings which the various committees will hold within and without the city of Baton Rouge at which interested citizens and those having specialized knowledge will appear, it is anticipated that additional need for consultation and hearings will develop during the course of committee study and deliberation which will require contact with individuals and groups of individuals in various areas of the state; and

WHEREAS, the existing closed circuit television facilities of the Louisiana Hospital Television Network can be of inestimable value to this convention and its committees, and hence to the people of the state of Louisiana, in providing a means of communication between the members of any committee and persons or groups residing in other areas in or near the state owned and operated hospitals which form a part of said hospital television network; and

Session of the Legislature authorizes this convention "to use the facilities and services of any board, commission, department or agency of the state and of any political sub-division of the state" and provides that "all such agencies shall cooperate with the convention to the fullest extent in furnishing services, facilities and employees upon request," and it is desirable that action be taken to provide for the use of the facilities of the above referred to television network and, to the extent feasible and necessary, those of the Louisiana Educational Television Authority.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that such existing closed circuit television facilities shall be made available only when not in use for the purposes for which they are operated and on an hourly cost basis for line charges and personnel time which shall be determined by the Executive Committee of this Constitutional Convention and, further, that such facilities shall be made available only upon request by the respective committee chairmen made prior to the date on which such use is required and then only for necessary discussions relative to the work assigned to the committee making the request and in no case for general discussion meetings which would demand more time than use of lines by all committees requesting such services would permit, consistent with the regular usage of the facilities of the Louisiana Hospital Television Network.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Louisiana Educational Television Authority is hereby requested to cooperate with the Louisiana Hospital Television Network officials to the full extent deemed necessary and desirable in order to assure that closed circuit television facilities are made available to this Constitutional Convention and its

On a motion for the previous question on the entire subject matter, there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for the previous question on the entire subject matter, and pending such motion, shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate. Yeas and Nays

Rule No. 78. Voting after Decision is Announced. When the Yeas and Nays are taken on any question, no delegate shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the decision has been announced by the chairman. The names of absentees on all calls of the yeas and nays shall be placed on a separate list.

Rule No. 79. Explanation of Vote. No delegate shall be permitted to explain his or her vote except as hereafter provided. Any delegate may explain his or her vote in writing or reasons for not voting in writing and request that such explanation be made part of the record.

Rule No. 80. Tie Votes. When the Convention is equally divided, the decision of the chairman shall be taken to break the tie, provided that the chairman, in this event, shall not have previously voted as a delegate on the question.

Rule No. 81. Recording the Vote. On the passage on third reading of every proposal, section, or article the yeas and nays shall be entered in the Journal, and no proposal, section, or article shall be declared passed unless a majority of all the delegates to the Convention shall have voted in favor of the passage of same.

Convention.

Rule No. 84. Change in Rules. Any standing rule of the Convention may be rescinded, altered, or amended in the following manner: notice shall be given in writing of the motion therefor, which motion shall be referred immediately by the chairman to the Committee on Rules, which shall file its report to the Convention within twenty-four hours of receipt of the motion. Two days after the filing of the proposed change, the motion shall be considered by the Convention with or without the report of the Committee on Rules, and for passage shall require a vote of a majority of the delegates to the Convention.

Rule No. 85. Suspension of Rules. One or more rules may be suspended for a specified purpose by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the delegates present and voting or a majority of delegates to the Convention, whichever constitutes the lesser number.

Rule No. 86. Consideration of Proposals without Committee Recommendation. After one day's notice the Convention, on motion passed by the affirmative vote of a majority of the delegates present and voting, may require a committee to return, with or without a recommendation, any proposal referred to the committee.

Rule No. 87. Notice. Whenever notice is required to be given by these rules, the following shall constitute notice:

- (a) If the Convention is in session, an announcement made by the Secretary in open session shall constitute notice for all purposes.
- (b) If the Convention is not in session, the Secretary shall give notice to the delegates by U. S. Mail, certified, postage prepaid. The date of mailing said notice shall constitute the date of the notice for all purposes under these rules.

Rule No. 88. Authority. On any question of order and parliamentary practice, when these rules are silent or in-

Vice-Chairman Miller in the Chair

Chairman Henry addressed the Convention on a Point of Personal Privilege, as follows:

I would like to share some of my thoughts with you as we enter the second phase of this Constitutional Convention. This convention has been called the most important political event of the past half-century in Louisiana. Few would disagree with that.

After hammering out the rules whereby we would proceed, when we convened this past January, we have spent nearly six months in committees, dissecting the present Constitution and developing the parts of a proposed new Constitution.

That period was a time of education and research, of insight and enlightment. It pointed up the complexity of our problem, and that solutions to such a complex problem are not easily arrived at.

The volume of work has been staggering, and so have the long hours you have devoted to the essential committee work of this convention. To date, you as delegates have expended fully 25,344 man-hours — or person-hours if you will — in the tedium of picking apart the bones of our old Constitution and preparing tentative drafts of proposed articles and sections of the new Constitution.

To assist you, and execute your requests and directives, the staff of the convention has worked another 31,628 hours, late into the night and into the weekends, as you yourselves have worked.

Thus, we have devoted nearly 57,000 hours to developing proposals for a new and better Constitution for Louisiana.

The results of this labor, I dare say, are not merely reflected in the several reams of paper introduced here today as Proposals and Resolutions. The real results are much broader and are contained in the increased insight you and I (thanks to the outstanding coverage of our labors by the news media) and the people of this state have with regard to our present Constitution, and this convention's first tentative ideas as to the substance of a new Constitution and the concepts as to its formulation and implemention.

Beginning today our work will not decrease, likely the opposite will occur, but our work takes on a new dimension. While much committee work remains to be done, soon our attention must be given not just to the narrow area of specialty we have chosen but to a new Constitution in its entirety. However narrow our previous study, our thinking must now encompass an integrated concept of a unitary body of organic law; however equivocal our positions and thoughts, we must begin to decide and act; however firm we are in our convictions, we must now persuade not 10 or 20 but 132: however and whatever our thoughts and actions.

10th Days Proceedings-July 5, 1973

we must now write a new Constitution for the people of the State of Louisiana.

Though I do not want to sound excessively presumptious or school-marmish, I want to tell you of my present thoughts and concerns. I am deeply concerned with the substantive issues of this convention, but I am today equally concerned with the attitudes and approaches of this convention. I hold the firm belief that in all matters of human endeavor not only do the ends not justify the means, but moreover the means become the ends. I am convinced that our attitudes, our approaches, our tenor and our mood during the next six months will imperceptible become the proposed Constitution.

If we formulate this Constitution with an attitude of distrust of one another, with narrow, self-important issues our foremost concern, and with intolerance for divergent views, we shall surely frame a narrow, self-serving document distrustful of government by the people — and distrusted and rejected by the people of Louisiana.

We have worked in a spirit of independence and freedom. The specter of control, a convention controlled by one person, group or special interest, has never mate ialized. You have every right to take pride in the free spirit of this convention, for more than anything else it was this specter of control which delayed the calling of a Constitutional Convention for decades. But no one has controlled this convention, its deliberations and decisions, nor will it be controlled.

I have, I suppose, never been associated with a group who so firmly, and with such great regularity, reaffirm their determination to be above politics and to avoid even the appearance of compromise. I expect no less of myself partisanism, parochialism, has no part in this convention. This Constitution must be a statement of principle, not a corruption of it.

Unfortunately, the reverse of this conviction has not been articulated sufficiently. Intolerance and arrogance have no place in this Constitution. However, a little simple humility does have a lot of room here. This Constitution can not possibly be exactly as each of I32 of us would like it. Even more so, it can not be exactly as each of the 3.6 million people of this state might like it. Compromise and tolerance of the majority views of others, is not the sign of weakness and moral bankruptcy. It is the critical realiza-tion that makes human society functionable; it is the element that separates the hermit from the citizen.

If you think that compromise in politics inevitably leads to mediocrity, recall that the system of federalism we now live under was the product of the greatest compromise of the Constitutional Convention that met in Philadelphia in 1767. Recall that it was an entirely new governmental concept, born of necessity and disliked by both the Mr. Hamiltons who desired a unitary form of government and the Mr. Randolphs who desired the continuation of a confederation.

I'm not much on reading quotes of others, but perhaps you will find as interesting as I, recalling the words of the 1787 long-hair Benjamin Franklin when he signed that document:

"I confess that I do not entirely approve of this Constitution at present; but, sir, I am not sure I shall never approve of it, for, having lived long, I have experienced many instances of being obliged, by better information or fuller consideration, to change opinions even on important subjects, which I once thought right, but found to be otherwise..

"In these sentiments, sir, I agree to this Constitution with all its faults - if they are such - because I think a general government necessary for us . . . I doubt, too, whether any other convention we can obtain may be able to make a better Constitution; for, when you assemble a number of men, to have the advantage of their joint wisdom, you inevitably assemble with those men all their prejudices, their passions, their errors of opinion, their local interests, and their selfish views. From such an assembly can a perfect production be expected?

"It therefore astonishes me, Sir, to find this system approaching so near to perfection as it does; and I think it will astonish our enemies, who are waiting with confidence to hear that our counsels are confounded . . .

"Thus I consent, Sir, to this Constitution, because I expect no better, and because I am not sure that it is not the best. The opinions I have had of its errors I sacrifice to the public good . ." unquote.

Our document, if worthy, shall not be the cure-all for the ills of this state. If worthy, it will create the legal mechanics whereby people of good will and industry may respond to the ills of society. I recall some months ago reading that the legislative committee was concerned with importance of the reapportionment method for the Louisiana Legislature. Responding to this contemporary concern, they formulated, and then thankfully rejected, a three-page long 1973 solution for us. That 1973 solution would have set ten separate constitutional time restrictions on the Legislature, the Supreme Court and the attorney general of this state. The legislative committee, I believe, in rejecting this 1973 Cadillac was right because this Constitution should and must be a loadmap, not an automobile.

And while we are formulating this roadmap, let us not forget that this map is not just for us — it is going to be carefully scrutinized and effectively expanded upon by judges and professors, lawyers and politicans, and scholars and nitwits. If there are loopholes, they will be plugged; if there is indecision, decision will be had; if there is vagueness, there will be as many opinions as persons affected. In short, the lawsuits will be numerous and we will find that the Supreme Court will ultimately write as much of this Constitution as we do.

Since I've already offended the legislative committee, I'll do the only sensible thing and agitate them again rather than offend another group. Presently, they are recommending that the Legislature be permitted to meet a certain number of working days, termed "legislative days" in a longer calendar day period. My quarrel or really question here is what is a "legislative day" — a day when both houses meet, if we decided on a bicameral Legislature? A day when either one meets? Or even a day when neither meets in session, but some of the committees meet? If you can't find a lawsuit or two in there somewhere, I can suggest a country lawyer from Jonesboro who can.

I've suggested that our attitudes and our approaches will shape this Constitution. I suppose that some of you may be curious of some of mine, in particular about the role as chairman.

You will recall that back in January during the lengthy debates on convention rules, I presumed as chairman to tell you, "Go ahead and get it out of your system now, because after we adopt these rules we're going to live with them.'

Those rules have been adopted, and that time has come. We have successfully avoided outside control of this convention. Now we must control ourselves. We will adhere to the rules, they will be enforced, and we will move along, for we have a deadline to meet.

You will also recall that we adopted Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedures as our authority in matters not specifically covered by our own rules. Mason, quoting from an earlier parliamentary manual, states:

"The great purpose of all rules and forms . . . is to serve the will of the assembly rather than to restrain it; to facilitate and not obstruct the expression of its deliberate sense."

I conceive it my responsibility, as entrusted by you to facilitate the expression of the deliberate sense of this convention. Equitable and impartial adherence to the rules and forms of this convention will be a major element which will insure that the sense of this convention is not obstructed; such is my goal.

In a different light, I shall be suggesting to you from time to time, often from day to day, working schedules, adjournment times, and similar approaches to effect the work of the convention. I intend to do so after consultations with you, your officers, chairmen and clerk so that I might have the best views of what this convention needs to do at a given time to effect its goal.

I further wish to indicate to you that it is my desire to facilitate your individual and collective goals. As far as it is humanly possible, I will be available as you wish to discuss those matters of particular concern.

While I wish to assure you that my personal interest in the substantive issues of this convention will not wane, my primary purpose will be to attempt to insure on your behalf and on behalf of the people of this state that the deliberate sense of this convention will be expressed in a document worthy of their consideration in 1974.

We must now proceed to write that document. The people are waiting.

Let us proceed. Thank You.

ARTICLE II. GENERAL GOVERNMENTAL PROVISIONS

Section 1. Three Departments

The powers of government of the State of Louisiana are divided into three distinct departments—legislative, executive, and judicial.

Section 2. Limitations of Each Department

No one of these departments, nor any person holding office in one of them, shall exercise power belonging to either of the others, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Comment: Modernization of language; no change in substance.

Section 3. Civilian-Military Relations

The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. Source: La. Const. Art. I, §14 (1921).

Comment: Modernization of language and change of location in the constitution; no change in substance. Section 4. Reserved Power of the Initiative

The people reserve to themselves the power to propose constitutional amendments and statutes and local ordinances and resolutions and to enact or repeal the same at the polls independently of the legislature or any local governing authority.

Comment: The initiative, while new to Louisiana, is established in about half of the other states of the union. To ease its introduction, the transitional schedule could provide that the initiative provisions would not be effective until one year after the constitution enters into force. The people may adopt by initiative what the legislature or a local governing authority may adopt, subject to the limitations of Section 9. The term "local governing authority" would include any local legislative policy-making body such as a police jury, city council, or school board.

Section 5. Activation of an Initiative Proposal An initiative proposal shall be activated when an interested party has filed an application with the secretary of state containing the text of the proposal and bearing the signatures of at least one hundred electors of the jurisdiction as sponsors. The secretary of state shall within thirty days assign a title and a number to the proposal, place it in proper form, and certify that it is open for signatures. Denial of certification is subject to judicial re-

Comment: To assure that an initiative proposal is in proper form before being included in petitions to be circulated. it is first submitted to the secretary of state. The requirement that it bear at least one hundred sponsors is in accord with the Alaska provision to eliminate frivolous applications.

Section 6. Initiative Petitions

To be valid, petitions endorsing such proposal must be filed within one year after certification with the secretary of state who shall attest to their legality within thirty days after each is received. Petitions must be signed by a number of electors of the jurisdiction equal to at least fifteen percent of the largest vote cast in any election in the jurisdiction in the previous ten years. The legislature may provide that fewer signatures are required in any instance. All petitions must comply substantially with such reasonable formalities as may be established by the secretary of state.

Comment: The 15 percent figure required for an initiative proposal is much higher than the figure needed in most states. Oregon, for example, permits an initiative by six percent of the votes cast in the last gubernatorial election. The figure for most of the states is 5 to 10 percent. However, since this is a new proposal for Louisiana, a high figure should be used to discourage initiatives until the extent of their popularity is established. For example, based on the record turnout of 1,184,614 voters in November 1971, it would require 177,693 signatures to get a statewide initiative proposal on the ballot. The section provides that the legislature may lower the percentage in any instance.

Section 7. Initiative Elections

The proposal shall appear on the ballot with its title and a brief description containing not more than twentyfive words prepared by the interested party. It shall be voted on during the next general election at least ninety days after a sufficient number of petitions have been filed with the secretary of state, or during a special election called for that purpose by the governor or by the local governing authority, provided that the proposal shall have been published once, at least forty-five days before the election, at the expense of the interested party, in the official journal of the state and, in the case of local matters, in the official journal of the local governing authority. Source: New; see, for example, Ark. Const. Art. V, $1 (1874).

Comment: Gives the interested party initiating a proposal the right to describe it on the ballot and the obligation of publishing it at least once before the election. Section 8. Enactment of Initiative Proposals

The proposal shall become law thirty days after approval by a majority of the electors who vote for or against the proposal or at such later date as the proposal may provide.

Source: New; see, for example, Alaska Const. Art. X1,

Comment: None

Section 9. Limitations of the Initiative

No proposal shall embrace more than one subject nor shall it appropriate money or levy, repeal, or dedicate any tax. An initiative proposal defeated by the electors shall not be reactivated for two years after its defeat. Source: New; see, however, Alaska Const. Art. XI, §7 (1956).

Comment: This section essentially prohibits use of the initiative for fiscal measures which standing alone might seriously imbalance the budget of a governing body. Section 10. Execution of Initiative Provisions Initiative provisions are self-executing but laws may be enacted to facilitate the use of the initiative. No legislation shall be enacted to impair powers herein reserved to the people.

Source: New; see, for example, Ark. Const. Art. I, §1 (1874).

Comment: The legislature may aid but not detract from the reserved power of the people to use the initiative. Section 11. Right to Direct Participation

No person shall be denied the right to observe the deliberations of public bodies and examine public documents except in cases established by law in which the demands of privacy exceed the merits of public disclosure.

Source: New; see, however, Mont. Const. Art. II, §9 (1972).
Comment: This provision considers that basic political rights include not only the right to vote but also the right to participate personally and directly in government by observing public bodies and examining public documents.

Section 12, Oath of Office

All officers before entering upon the duties of their respective offices shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I, (A B), do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution and laws of the United States the constitution and laws of this state and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as ____according to the best of my ability and understanding, so help me God." Source: La. Const. Art. XIX, $1 (1921).

Comment: The section is virtually identical to the 1921 provision except that the words "except as otherwise provided in the Constitution", have been deleted as unnecessary since there have been no exceptions to the oath of office.

Section 13. State Capital

The capital of Louisiana is the city of Baton Rouge. Source: New; see however, La. Const. Art. XIX, §2, (1921). Comment: This complies with Act 2 of the 1972 Regular Session.

COMMITTEE REPORT WITH RESPECT TO COMMITTEE PROPOSAL No. 2-

A PREAMBLE

We, the people of Louisiana, grateful to Almighty God for the civil, political, economic, and religious liberties we enjoy, and desiring to protect individual rights to life, liberty, and property; afford opportunity for the fullest development of the individual; assure equality of rights; provide for the health, safety, education, and welfare of the people; maintain a representative and orderly government; ensure domestic tranquility; provide for the common defense; and secure the blessings of freedom and justice to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Source: La. Const. Preamble (1921) and Ill. Const. Preamble (1970).

Comment: The 1921 preamble stressed liberty; the proposed preamble stresses both individual rights and the general interest of the people in establishing the constitution. The preamble is not a legally binding part of the constitution; it is not a source of power for any department of the government. Instead, the preamble indicates the general purposes for which the people ordain and establish a constitution, Jacobson v. Massachusetts, 197 US 11, 22 (1904).
ARTICLE I. DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

Section 1. Origin and Purpose of Government

Section 1. All government, of right, originates with the people, is founded on their will alone, and is instituted to protect the rights of the individual and for the good of the whole. Its only legitimate ends are to secure justice for all, preserve peace, and promote and protect the rights, happiness, and general welfare of the people. The rights enumerated in this article are inalienable and shall be preserved inviolate.

Source: La. Const. Art. I, $1 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision has been changed to emphasize that the purpose of government is to protect both indi-vidual rights and the general welfare of the people and that rights are inalienable.

Section 2. Due Process of Law

Section 2. No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, property, or other rights without substantive and procedural due process of law. Source: La. Const. Art. I, $2 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision was changed to emphasize that due process is a protection for all rights and substantive due process is protected as well as fair procedures. The 1921 provisions on expropriation are expanded in a separate section on the Right to Property.

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

Section 3. Right to Individual Dignity Section 3. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws nor shall any law discriminate against a person in the exercise of his rights on account of birth, race, sex, social origin or condition, or political or religious ideas. Slavery and involuntary servitude are prohibited, except in the latter case as a punishment for crime.

and U. S. Const. Amend. 13.

Comment: The purpose of this section is to prohibit direct state action which unreasonably discriminates against any person because of birth, race, sex, social origin or condition, or political or religious beliefs. It does not interfere with the right to discriminate in private affairs, nor is it intended to prohibit harmless state action. Rather, this provision is intended both to prohibit forced segregation and to outlaw new forms of "reverse discrimination" such as the imposition of quotas. Its only purpose is to insure that the State of Louisiana will treat each person within its jurisdiction as an individual who will be judged solely according to his own merit and worth.

Section 4. Right to Property

Section 4. Every person has the right to acquire by voluntary means, to own, to control, to enjoy, to protect, and to dispose of private property. This right is subject to the reasonable exercise of the police power and to the law of forced heirship. Property shall not be taken or damaged except for a public and necessary purpose and with just compensation previously paid to the owner or into court for his benefit. The owner shall be compensated to the full extent of his loss and has the right to a trial by jury to determine such compensation. No business enterprise or any of its assets shall be taken for the purpose of operating that enterprise or for the purpose of halting competition with government enterprises, nor shall the intangible assets of any business enterprise be taken. Unattached movable property shall not be expropriated except when necessary in emergencies to save lives or property, and personal effects, other than contra-band, shall never be taken. The issue of whether the contemplated purpose be public and necessary shall be a judicial question, and determined as such without regard to any legislative assertion.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, $2; Art. II, $37;
Art. IV, $$19, 19.1 (1921); Ariz. Const. Art. I, $1 (1912);
Calif. Const. Art. I, $$1, 14 (1876); Colo. Const. Art. II, $2 (1876); Ill. Const. Art. I, $15 (1970); Mont. Const. Art. I, $29 (1972); Nev. Const. Art. I, $1 (1864); N. Dak. Const. Art. I, $$1, 14 (1889); Amer. Conv. on Human Rights Art.

XXI, $1 (1969).

Comment: The first sentence of the section contains language paralleling that used by the U.S. Supreme Court in Lynch v. Household Insurance Corp., 92 S. Ct. 1113, 1118 (1972) in upholding a right to property by virtue of the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U. S. Consti-tution. Similar provisions are contained in the California, Colorado, and Nevada Constitutions and the American Convention on Human Rights. See source above. The right to property is to be limited in this section, however, by the laws of forced heirship. The term "full extent of the loss" (See Mont. Const. cited above) is intended to permit the owner whose property has been taken to remain in equivalent financial circumstances after the taking. It is intended that a business shall not be taken over for the purpose of operating it, although presumably a business could be terminated in an orderly manner. Personal effects are intended to include money, stocks, bonds, objects of art, books, papers, essential tools of trade, and clothing. Contraband, however is an exception to the prohibition against taking personal effects. The reservation of trial by jury is not intended to interfere with a "quick-taking" statute since compensation could initially be paid into court. The term "taking" is to apply to both "expropriation" and "appropriation" so that "appropriation" would no longer have a special status in Louisiana law. Finally determination of the purpose for the taking would be a

Section 5. Right to Privacy

Section 5. Every person shall be secure in his person, property, communications, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches, seizures, or invasions of privacy. No warrant shall issue without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation particularly describing the place to be searched. the persons or things to be seized, and the lawful purpose or reason for the search. Any person adversely affected by a search or seizure conducted in violation of this section shall have standing to raise the illegality of that search or seizure in the appropriate court of law. Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §7 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provisions have been changed to stress that communications and property are included in the right to privacy. A search warrant is to include the lawful purpose or reason for the search. In addition, persons protected against illegal searches and seizures include not only the person whose house or property has been illegally searched but also any other person adversely affected by the illegal search.

Section 6. Freedom from Intrusion

Source: La. Const. Art. XIX, §7 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision is broadened to include any "person" in lieu of "soldier, sailor, or marine", to include "owner or lawful occupant" in lieu of "owner", and to eliminate the exception during time of war.

Section 7. Freedom from Discrimination

Section 7. All persons shall be free from discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, national ancestry, and sex in access to public accommodations or in the sale or rental of property by persons or agents who derive a substantial income from such business activity. Nothing herein shall be construed to impair freedom of association.

Source: New; see, however, Ill. Const. Art. I, §17 (1970). Comment: This section asserts the right to be free from private discrimination in certain activities. Federal law presently prohibits discrimination in public accommodations (42 U.S.L. $2000) and in the sale or rental of housing (42 U.S.C. $3604) except in the case of a single-famly house sold without advertising and in the case of rooms or apartments in an owner's own home (42 U.S.C. §3603).

The prohibitions intended to those "who derive a substantial income from such business activity" as opposed to an individual homeowner selling or renting his own home.

Sectio 8. Trial by Jury in Civil Cases

Section 8. In all civil cases, except summary, domestic, and adoption cases, the right to trial by jury shall not be abridged. No fact determined by a judge or jury shall be reexamined on appeal. Determination of facts by an administrative body shall be subject to review. Source: New; see, however, U. S. Const. Amend. 7, La. Const.

Art. VII, §29 (1921).

Comment: This section abandons the practice of appellate court review of the facts determined by the judge or jury in the lower court. It enlarges the right to trial by jury in civil cases. La. Const. Art. VII, §29 (1921).

Section 9. Freedom of Expression

Section 9. No law shall abridge the freedom of every person to speak, write, publish, photograph, illustrate, or broadcast on any subject or to gather, receive, or transmit knowledge or information, but each person shall be responsible for the abuse of that liberty; nor shall such activities ever be subject to censorship, licensure, registration, control, or special taxation.

Source: New; see, however, U. S. Const. Amend. 1.

Comment: The section is intended to be a strong assertion of the right to free speech. Under the section, suits for libel and slander would still be permitted, however, and truth would be a defense in such suits.

Section 10. Freedom of Religion

Section 10. No law shall be enacted respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. Source: La. Const. Art. I, §4 (1921).

Comment: Modernization of language. No substantive change. Section 11. Freedom of Assembly and Movement

Section 11. No law shall impair the right of every person to assemble peaceably, to petition government for a redress of grievances, to travel freely within the state, and to enter judicial question without regard to legislative assertions, and leave the state. Nothing herein shall prohibit quarantines or restrict the authority of the state to supervise persons subject to parole or probation.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §5 (1921).

Comment: The section is intended to strengthen the traditional freedom of assembly provision and to add a provision recognizing freedom of movement. The latter provision would not affect restrictions on the freedom of movement of convicted persons on parole. Under the section on Right to Humane Treatment, the rights of persons convicted are not fully restored until the termination of state or federal supervision for any offense and this section is not inconsistent with that provision. The section also does not restrict movement of persons under quarantine for medical reasons or in other emergency situations. Section 12. Rights of the Accused

Section 12. When a person has been detained, he shall immediately be advised of his legal rights and the reason for his detention. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall be precisely informed of the nature and cause of the accusation against him. At all stages of the proceedings, every person shall be entitled to assistance of counsel of his choice, or appointed by the court in indigent cases if charged with a serious offense.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §$9, 10, 11, 12;

Art. VII. §§41, 42 (1921).

Comment: This section and the six sections that follow are a rearrangement of the provisions on criminal procedure rights contained in the 1921 Constitution. The provisions are arranged in the chronological order which the rights are exercised.

The accused is entitled to be informed of his relevant legal rights and the reason for his detention as soon as he is detained. In being informed of accusations against him, he is to be precisely informed. Also, he is entitled to the early assistance of counsel in indigent cases.

Section 13. Initiation of Prosecution

Section 13. Prosecution of felonies shall be initiated by indictment or information, provided that no person shall be held to answer for a capital crime or a felony necessarily punishable by hard labor, except on indictment by a grand jury. No person shall be twice placed in jeopardy for the same offense, except on his own application for a new trial or where there is a mistrial or a motion in arrest of judgment is sustained.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §9; Art. VII, §41 (1921); U. S. Const. Amend. 5.

Section 14. Grand Jury Proceedings

Section 14. At all stages of the grand jury proceedings, after arrest, the accused shall have the right to the advice of counsel while testifying, to compulsory process for presenting witnesses to the grand jury for interrogation, and to any transcribed testimony of any witnesses appearing before the grand jury in his case.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §9 (1921); U. S.

Const. Amend. 6.

Comment: No change with respect to the secrecy of the grand jury is anticipated. The "accused" is a person who has been arrested or otherwise booked with an offense requiring an indictment and who is permitted to appear before the grand jury. In such cases he shall have the right to the advice of counsel while testifying. The attorney's role may be strictly limited to "advising" his client. The accused also has the right to present witnesses to the grand jury on his own behalf but the grand jury is under no obligation to interrogate them. Finally, if testimony in the grand jury room is transcribed, the accused is entitled to a transcript of such testimony of witnesses appearing in his case.

Section 15. Fair Trial

Section 15. Every person charged with a crime shall be presumed innocent until proven guilty, and shall be entitled to a speedy, public, and impartial trial in the parish where the offense or an element of the offense occurred, unless venue be changed in accordance with law. No person shall be compelled to give evidence against himself. An accused shall be entitled to confront and cross-examine the witnesses against him, to compel the attendance of witnesses, to present a defense, and to take the stand in his own behalf Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §$9, 11 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provisions provide explicitly for exceptions with respect to self-incrimination and do not state that a person may take the stand in his own behalf.

Section 16. Trial by Jury in Criminal Cases

Section 16. Any person charged with an offense or set of offenses punishable by imprisonment of more than six months may demand a trial by jury. In cases involving a crime necessarily punishable by hard labor, the jury shall consist of twelve persons, all of whom must concur to render a verdict in capital cases or cases in which no parole or probation is permitted, and ten of whom must agree in others. In cases not necessarily punishable by hard labor, the jury may consist of a smaller number of persons, all of whom must concur to render a verdict. The accused shall have the right to voir dire and to challenge jurors peremptorily. Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I. § 9: Art. VII.

Comment: This section strengthens the right to trial by jury by incorporating the rule in Duncan v. Louisiana, 891 US 145 (1968) which recognizes the right to a trial by jury in cases in which the potential punishment is imprisonment for six months or more. The provision would also include the right to a jury trial when a set of offenses could result in imprisonment for six months or more. The latter may be beyond the federal requirement. The requirement for a unanimous jury verdict in cases in which no parole is permitted is a change from the 1921 provision and the number needed to convict in lesser cases is raised from nine to 10. The right to voir dire or to challenge witnesses for cause, is expressly stated in this section for the first time.

Section 17. Right to Bail

Section 17. Excessive bail shall not be required. Before and during trial, a person shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless charged with a capital offense and the proof is evident and the presumption great. After conviction and before sentencing, a person shall be bailable if the maximum sentence which may be imposed is less than five years and, the judge may grant bail if the maximum sentence which may be imposed is greater. After sentencing and until final judgment, persons shall be bailable if the sentence actually imposed is less than five years, and the judge may grant bail if the sentence actually imposed is greater.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, $12 (1921) Comment: This section represents a departure from the 1921 Constitution in permitting bail at the discretion of the judge in certain situations where it was not permitted before. It permits bail after conviction and before sentencing as well as after sentencing and before final judgment.

Section 18. Right to Humane Treatment

Section. No person shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, unusual, or excessive punishments or treatments, and full rights shall be restored by termination of state or federal supervision for any offense.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. I, §12 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision is revised to include "excessive" as well as "cruel and unusual" punishments, and "treatments" are included as well as "punishments". The provision on restoration of full rights is intended to mean convicted person automatically recovers all rights recognized in this "Declaration of Rights" at the point at which supervision ceases. It does not erase his past record; for example, a multiple offender could still receive a harsher penalty than a first offender. Section 19. Right to Vote

Section 19. No person eighteen years of age or older who is a resident or domiciliary of the state shall be denied the right to register and to vote, except that this right may be suspended while a person is judicially committed and institutionalized, or under an order of imprisonment for conviction of a felony.

Source: New: see, however, Ill. Const. Art. III, §§1, 2 (1970); Montana Const. Art. IV, §1 (1972).

Comment: Voting is included in the "Declaration of Rights" because it is regarded as a basic political right rather than a privilege. As a right, it should be suspended only in the most serious cases. The Illinois provision does not even except interdicted persons. The Montana provision excerpts persons "of unsound mind, as determined by a court". This provision also recognizes a right to register as long as registration is a prerequisite to voting.

Section 20. Right to Keep and Bear Arms

Section 20. A well-regulated militia is necessary to the security of a free state. The right of each person to keep and bear arms and ammunition shall not be abridged, but this provision shall not prevent the passage of laws to prohibit the carrying of concealed weapons.

Source: La. Const. Art. I. §8 (1921).

Comment: The section is adopted with virtually no change in substance from the 1921 provision. The provision re-lating to the militia is set out as a separate sentence. The right to bear arms is connected with the provision permitting laws to prohibit the carrying of concealed

Section 21. Writ of Habeas Corpus

Section 21. The writ of habeas corpus shall not be sus-

Source: La. Const. Art. I, §13 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision is revised to recognize the writ of habeas corpus as a right rather than a privilege and to eliminate the exception for suspending it. Emergencies and other times of disorder are precisely the times when the writ is most needed as a right of redress.

Section 22. Access to Courts

Section 22. All courts shall be open, and every person shall have an adequate remedy by due process of law and justice, administered without denial, partiality, or unreasonable delay for actual or threatened injury to him in his person, property, reputation, or other rights. Neither the state, its political subdivisions, nor any private person shall be immune from suit.

Source: New: see, however, La. Const. Art. I, § 6; Art. III, § 35; Art. XIX, §13 (1921).

Comment: This provision is intended to broaden the general right of redress recognized in the 1921 provision. The right of redress is recognized for "threatened" as well as "actual" injury or violation of any right of a person. No private person is to be immune from suit. Sovereign immunity is abolished but the legislature may provide for immunity for the governor or other "public persons" in connection with the performance of their official duties.

COMMITTEE REPORT WITH RESPECT TO COMMITTEE PROPOSAL No. 3-

ARTICLE III. LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT Section 1. Legislative Power of State; Vesting: Continuous Body

Section 1. (A) The legislative power of the state is vested in a legislature, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

(B) The legislature shall be a continuous body during the term for which its members are elected.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §1 (1921).

Comment: Paragraph (A) rewords without substantive change the present provisions.

Paragraph (B) is new. Term "continuous body" is distinguished from "continuous session." Term "continuous body" means that legislature is a viable and ongoing body for the duration of each of the four-year terms of its members rather than a year to year body. At present legislature acts as a body only when convened in actual session and all orders, resolutions, and proceedings cease at the end of the session, unless otherwise extended. Unlike the judicial and executive branches of government, the legislature at present is restricted in the number of days it can operate and can only function while it is in session for a limited period each year, while the other branches operate throughout the year. Leaves no doubt as to authority of legislature to organize itself, select it officers, and establish its standing committees for fouryear term of its members. Allows legislature to adopt procedures to operate through its standing committees year-round for continuing study and analysis of needed or proposed legislative action. Eliminates necessity for creation of interim committees to meet between sessions. Permits legislature more readily to manage its own operations when not actually in session by allowing it to provide for: 1) prefiling of bills, 2) formal introduction of Comment: Establishes a maximum number of members for bills prior to convening in regular or extraordinary session, 3) assignment of such bills to committees, 4) pre-session committee hearings and determination of reports; and otherwise to exercise its functions year-round and from year to year in an effort to provide more time for informed and deliberative decision-making, benefiting the state and its people.

Note "continuous body" is not synonymous with "continuous session" and the legislature could only meet in actual session as permitted by Section 2 below. Section 2. Sessions; Annual; Extraordinary

Section 2. (A) The legislature shall meet in regular annual sessions. In each year the regular session shall not extend for more than sixty legislative days within a one hundred and twenty day period; however, upon the consent of a majority of the elected members of each house, the legislature may extend the regular session in any year for not to exceed fifteen legislative days within the one hundred and twenty day period.

(B) The legislature may be convened at other times by the governor or, at the written request of a majority of the elected members of each house, by the presiding officers of both houses. The governor or the presiding officers of both houses, as the case may be, shall issue a proclamation convening the legislature into extraordinary session. The pro-clamation shall state the object or objects for convening the legislature in extraordinary sessions, the date on which the legislature is to be convened, and the number of days for which the legislature is convened. The power to legislate, under the penalty of nullity, shall be limited to the objects specifically enumerated in the proclamation convening the extraordinary session, and the session shall be limited to the number of days named therein, which shall never exceed thirty calendar days.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, § 8; Art. V, § 14 (1921). Comment: Requires legislature to meet in regular annual session, with no restriction as to fiscal matters in oddyear sessions as at present. Establishes length of regular sessions at 60 legislative days held within a 120day period. Allows for extension of regular session by consent of majority of elected members for up to 15 legislative days within same 120-day period. Term "legislative days" is new. It refers to exact number of days legislature actually meets, sometimes referred to as "working days." Some 14 states either by constitution or statute use "legislative day" concept. It most generally is defined or interpreted to mean, any day on which either or both houses is in session. (See Indiana Statutes 34-226 (e) and Opinions of the Justices, 257 So. 2d 336 (Ala. 1972)] Thus, a session by one house, the other house not sitting, comprises a legislative day to be deducted from the total 60 days permitted by this section. However, if neither house is in session both having adjourned or recessed to a later date, meetings of committees of one or both houses would not constitute legislative days.

Continues existing authority of governor and legislature to call extraordinary sessions, but reduces vote necessary for legislature to call itself into session from two-thirds to a majority of elected members of each house. Changes method of legislature calling itself into session by providing that presiding officers of both houses are to issue call or proclamation. Present provision places primary responsibility on governor to call legislature into session when petitioned to do so.

Rewords without substantive change present provision relative to issuance of proclamation and enumeration of objects to be considered.

Retains without substantive change present provision relative to restriction on power to legislate and limitation on maximum number of days of an extraordinary session.

Makes no constitutional provision for a convening date, leaving this to be fixed by statute. Note: provision for first convening date after new constitution is adopted likely could be included in a transitional or schedule provision.

Section 3. Size

Section 3. The number of members of the legislature shall be provided by law, but the number of Senate members shall not exceed forty-one and the number of House members shall not exceed one hundred and eleven. Source: La. Const. Art. III, §§2, 3, 4, 5 (1921).

11th Days Proceedings-July 6, 1973

each house of legislature but permits legislature to fix exact size. Maximum allowable number of senators is increased from 39 to 41 and maximum allowable number of representatives is increased from 105 to 111. Deletes those provisions of constitution establishing specific geographic districts.

Section 4. Qualifications; Residence Requirements; Term;

Vacancies

Section 4. (A) Every elector who at the time of his election has reached the age of eighteen years shall be eligible to membership in the House of Representatives. Every elector who at the time of his election has reached the age of twenty-one years shall be eligible to membership in the Senate.

(B) No person shall be eligible to membership in the legislature unless at the time of his election he has been a resident of the state for two years and actually domiciled within the legislative district from which he seeks election for one year immediately preceding his election. However, at the first election following the reapportionment of the legislature only, a person may qualify for election from any district created in whole on in part from the district existing prior to reapportionment in which such person was domiciled, if he was domiciled in that prior district for at least one year immediately preceding his election. The seat of any member who changes his domicile from the legislative district which he represents shall be vacated thereby, any declaration of a retention of domicile to the contrary not with standing.

(C) The members of the legislature shall be elected for terms of four years each.

(D) When a vacancy occurs in either house of the legislature, the remainder of the term shall be filled only by election, as provided by law.

Source; La. Const. Art. III, §§8, 9 (1921).

Comment: Reduces age requirement for senators from 25 to 21 years. Specifies 18 years instead of "elector" for age requirement for representatives.

Reduces residency in state from five to two years and requires one year of actual domicile in district preceding election. Present constitution requires one-year residence. Makes special provision for first election following reapportionment. Provides that change of domicile (rather than residence) vacates seat.

Retains four-year term of members.

Requires any vacancy in legislative office to be filled for remainder of term only by election as provided by law. Present provision requires governor to order elections to fill vacancies.

Section 5. Legislative Apportionment; Judicial Review;

Apportionment by Supreme Court

Section 5. (A) Not later than the end of the first year following the year in which the population of this state is reported to the president of the United States for each decennial federal census, the legislature shall apportion the representation in each house on the basis of the total state population as shown by the census. Within ten days after the legislature adopts an apportionment plan the presiding officers of the two houses shall submit the plan to the supreme court for review.

(B) If the legislature fails to apportion itself, the supreme court, upon petition therefor, by the attorney general with-in ten days after the close of the year above specified shall apportion each house thereof as provided in Paragraph (A) of this Section.

(C) The procedure for review and petition shall be provided by law.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §§2, 3, 4, 5, 6 (1921).

Comment: Replaces present constitutional provisions relating to legislative reapportionment. Requires legislature, no later than end of first year following official promulgation of census to reapportion state on basis of total state population. Deletes all provisions specifying geographical makeup of legislative districts.

Grants to state supreme court direct review of legislative reapportionment as well as authority upon petition to apportion the legislature when it fails to do so.

Requires legislature to establish procedures for this review and petition within guidelines and time periods specified by this section. (Replaces Article III, §$2, 3; deletes Article III, §§4, 5 and 6)

Section 6. Judging Qualifications and Election; Procedural

Rules; Discipline; Officers

Section 6. (A) Each house shall be the judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members, determine the rules of its procedure, and may punish its members for disorderly conduct or contempt and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of its elected members, may expel a member. Expulsion shall create a vacancy in the office.

(B) Each house shall have power to compel the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books and papers before such house as a whole, before any committee thereof, or before joint committees of the houses and shall have the power to punish for contempt those in wilfull disobedience of it orders.

(C) Each house shall choose its own officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall be designated in the Senate as the president of the Senate and in the House as the speaker of the House of Representatives.

Source: La. Const. Art. 1II, §§10, 11; Art. V, §§8, 17 (1921). Comment: Revises present provisions providing for each house to judge "qualifications, elections, and returns" of its own members by deleting the word "returns". Clarifies power to expel by stating that expulsion creates a

Retains provision relating to compelling attendance and production of all types of papers or documents and authorizes legislature to punish for contempt those who disobey its orders.

Removes lieutenant governor as presiding officer of the Senate and provides that each house is to choose its

Section 7. Privileges and Immunities

Section 7. The members of the legislature shall in all cases, except felony, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions and committee meetings of their respective houses and in going to and returning from the same. No member shall be questioned in any other place for any speech or debate in either house.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §13 (1921).

Comment: Revises present provision by extending the privileges and immunities granted legislators during sessions to include committee meetings. Extends privilege from arrest in criminal matters to all offenses not felonies.

Section 8. Conflict of Interest

Section 8. Legislative office is a public trust and every effort to realize personal gain through official conduct is a violation of that trust. The legislature shall enact a code of ethics prohibiting conflict between public duty and private interests of members of the legislature.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §§29, 30 (1921). Comment: Substantially replaces present constitutional provisions relating to legislative conflict of interest. De-letes requirement that individual legislators disclose personal interest in bills and refrain from voting thereon, as well as provisions relating to sale or trade of votes.

Section 9. Quorum; Compulsory Attendance; Journal; Adjournment; Consent of Other House.

Section 9. (A) Not less than a majority of the elected members of each house shall form a quorum to transact business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and shall have power to compel the attendance of absent members.

(B) Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings which shall be published from day to day and which shall accurately reflect the proceedings of that house, including all record votes. A record vote is a written, printed, or oral vote by yeas and nays.

(C) Whenever the legislature is in session neither house shall adjourn for more than three days or to any other place than that in which it is then meeting, without the consent of the other house.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §§7, 15, 19, 20 (1921).

Comment: Clarifies present provision relative to quorum by specifying that it is a majority of the elected members of each house.

Retains requirement for each house to maintain a journal and adds definition of record vote.

Rewords without substantive change provision relating to adjournment of either house for more than three days without consent of the other house.

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

Section 10. Legislative Auditor

Section 10. There shall be a legislative auditor who shall be elected by the consent of a majority of the elected members of each house and may be removed by the consent of two-thirds of the elected members of each house. The legislative auditor shall be responsible solely to the legislature and shall serve as fiscal advisor to the legislature. He shall perform such duties and functions relating to the auditing of the fiscal records of state and local governments as are provided by law.

Source: La. Const. Art. VI, §26(2) (1921).

Comment: Rewords present provisions relating to legislative auditor. Provides for his election by a simple majority but requires two-thirds majority to remove. Deletes the detail in present constitution relating to existing executive and legislative functions of legislative auditor and instead requires legislature to fix his duties and functions. Section 11. Salaries of Public Officers; Change

Section 11. Salaries of public officers may be changed only by vote of two-thirds of the elected members of each

Source: La. Const. Art. III, § 34 (1921).
Comment: Changes the vote required in legislature from two-thirds of members to two-thirds of the elected members and deletes phrase "whether fixed in this constitution or otherwise.'

Section 12. Local or Special Laws

Section 12. The legislature shall pass no local or special law when a general law is or can be made applicable.

Publication Source: New

Comment: Replaces the enumeration of prohibited local or special laws contained in Art. IV, $4 and prohibits all local or special laws where a general law would suffice. Outright prohibition of all local or special legislation is not feasible, for example an appropriation of money to pay an outstanding judgment is necessarily a special law, a law creating or changing a judicial district is a local law. The major problem under this section is not, "What is a local or special law?" but "When is a general law applicable?" This section does not specify who is to make this determination but it is understood that the courts will.

Section 13. Local or Special Laws; Notice of Intention; Section 13. No local or special law shall be introduced into the legislature unless notice of the intention to introduce such law has been published, without cost to the state, in the locality where the matter or things to be affected are situated on two separate days, the last day of which is at least thirty days prior to the introduction of such a bill into the legislature. The notice shall state the substance of the contemplated law. Every such bill shall contain a recital that the notice has been given.

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §6 (1921).

Comment: Rewords present provision relating to publication 30 days prior to introduction, but specifies number of times notice is to be published. Deletes requirement that evidence of publication be exhibited in legislature. Section 14. Suits Against the State

Section 14. The legislature may authorize suit to be filed against the state, its agencies, and political subdivisions, and shall provide a method of procedure and the effect of the judgments which may be rendered therein. Any law enacted for the purpose shall waive immunity from suit and from liability.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §35 (1921).

Comment: Rewords present provisions relating to authorization of suit against the state, its agencies, and political subdivisions. Authorizes legislature to establish procedures for authorizing suit and specifying the effect of judgments.

Deletes present detail and deletes specific provision (Art. XIX, § 26) withdrawing waiver of immunity from suit of certain state and local boards and agencies.

Section 15. Continuity of Government

Section 15. The legislature shall provide for the orderly and temporary continuity of government, in periods of emergency, until such time as the normal processes of government can be reestablished in accordance with the constitution and laws of the state. It shall also provide for the prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, the incumbents of which may become unavailable to execute the functions of their offices.

Source: La. Const. Art. II, §3 (1921). Comment: Revises prewent provision by extending this power to all types of emergencies and not just to those caused by enemy attack. Requires legislature to provide for continuity of government and succession to office in those emergencies.

Section 16. Style of Laws; Enacting Clause

Section 16. The style of the laws of this state shall be: "Be it eancted by the Legislature of Louisiana." It shall not be necessary to repeat the enacting clause after the first section of an act.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §7 (1921).

Comment: Retains present provision with only style changes.

Section 17. Passage of Bills Section 17. (A) The legislature shall enact no law and propose no amendment to the constitution except by a bill. Every bill, except the general appropriation bill and bills for the enactment, rearrangement, codification, or revision of a system of laws, shall be confined to one object and shall contain a brief title indicative of its object.

(B) All bills enacting, amending, or reviving laws shall set forth completely the provisions of the laws enacted, amended, or revived, and no system or code of laws shall be adopted by general reference to such system or code of laws.

(C) No bill shall be so amended in its passage through either house as to change its original object.

(D) Every bill shall be read at least by title on three separate days in each house. No bill shall be considered for final passage unless it has been reported on by a committee.

(E) No bill which has been rejected by either house may again be proposed or considered in the same house during the same session without the consent of a majority of the members elected to the house which rejected it.

(F) No amendments to bills by one house shall be concurred in by the other, nor shall any conference committee report be concurred in by either house except by the same vote required for final passage of the bill. The vote thereon shall be by record vote.

(G) No bill shall become law without the concurrence of at least a majority of the members elected to each house. Final passage of a bill shall be by record vote. At the request of one-fifth of the members elected to either house, a record vote shall be taken on any other measure or for any other purpose.

25, 25.1; Art. IV, §9 (1921).

Comment: Restates present provisions requiring enactment of laws only by bill. Retains requirement that a bill be confined to one object and have a title indicative of that object. Continues existing exception relating to general appropriation bill and bills to enact, rearrange, codify, or revise a system of laws.

Restates provisions relating to prohibition against adoption of laws by reference.

Restates provision prohibiting amendments which are not germane to object of bill as introduced.

Revises procedure for reading of bills in legislature. Requires reading of a bill at least by title on three separate days in each house. Retains requirement that bills be reported on before consideration for final passage but removes requirement for reading in full.

Retains without substantive change provision relating to reconsideration of rejected bills.

Restates present provisions relating to vote requirement for concurrence in amendments of another house or conference committee reports by specifying that concurrence in either case is to be by same vote required for final passage.

Rewords provisions relating to the vote required for passage of a bill. Specifies that a bill must receive at least a majority of votes in each house to pass. Retains provision that one-fifth of elected members in either house may require a record vote on other than final passage.

Section 18. Appropriations

Section 18. (A) No money shall be withdrawn from the

(B) All bills for raising revenue or appropriating money shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose or concur in amendments, as in other

(C) The general appropriation bill shall be itemized and shall contain only appropriations for the ordinary operating expenses of government, public charities, pensions, and the public debt and interest thereon.

(D) All other bills for appropriating money shall be for a specific purpose and for a specific amount.

(E) Any bill appropriating money in an extraordinary session of the legislature convened after final adjournment of the regular session held in the last year of the term of office of a governor, except for expenses of the legislature, shall require the approval of three-fourths of the elected members of each house.

Comment: Rewords present provisions relating to withdrawal of money from state treasury. Retains prohibition against appropriations for contingencies or for longer than two years.

Retains without substantive change provision relating to origination of revenue or appropriation bills.

Restates without substantive change present provisions relating to general appropriation bill.

Rewords without substantive change present provision relating to other appropriation bills.

Revises present provision relating to appropriation bills in extraordinary sessions held in the period 90 days before primary election for governor and ending at expiration of the governor's term to bring it into line with provision dealing with annual sessions, since a 90-day period could overlap with 120-day period if date for primary election were changed.

Section 19. Signing of Bills; Delivery to Governor Section 19. (A) A bill that has been passed by both houses of the legislature shall be signed by the presiding officers of both houses and shall be submitted to the governor for his signature or other action. Delivery to the governor shall be within three days after passage. (B) No joint, concurrent, or other resolution shall require the signature or other action of the governor.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §26; Art. V, §17 (1921). Comment: Revises present provisions relating to the signing of bills by the presiding officers of both houses. Deletes requirement for signing in open session. Allows delivery of signed bills to governor up to three days after passage, instead of present requirement for delivery on same day. Governor can sign, veto, or take no action on bills. If no action is taken, a bill becomes law after a certain period as specified in Section 20 _below.

Section 20. Signature of Governor on Bills; Veto Section 20. (A) A bill shall become law if the governor does not sign or veto the bill within ten days after its delivery to him if the legislature is in session or within twenty days if the legislature is adjourned. (B) If the governor does not approve of a bill, he may veto it and return it to the legislature, with his veto message, within twelve days after its delivery to him if the legislature is in session. If the legislature has adjourned before the governor vetoes or returns one or more bills, he shall return them, with his veto message, to the legislature as provided by law. Any bill thus returned by the governor and subsequently approved by two-thirds of the elected members of each house shall become law. (C) The presiding officers of both houses shall convene the legislature in veto session upon the written request therefor, by at least a majority of the members elected to each house, on the thirty-fifth day after final adjournment of each session, for the sole purpose of reconsidering the bills vetoed by the governor. The veto session shall not exceed five consecutive days.

Comment: Revises present provision relating to signing or vetoing of bills by governor. Allows governor 10 days if legislature is in session to sign or veto a bill and up to 20 days if legislature has adjourned.

Gives governor an additional period of time in which to prepare and deliver his veto message. Allows legislature to specify how and when governor is to return bills vetoed after it has adjourned. Retains two-thirds vote requirement to override governor's veto.

Revises present provisions on veto sessions by providing that presiding officers of both houses are to call legislature into veto session upon written request of a majority of members elected to each house. Changes present method which requires a majority from each house to vote to come back into veto session on a particular vetoed bill to a majority from each house voting to come back into veto session.

Section 21. Effective Date of Laws

Section 21. All laws shall be published as provided by law and shall take effect on the sixtieth day after final adjournment of the session in which they were enacted. However, any bill may specify an earlier or later effective date.

Comment: Revises present provisions relating to effective date of laws. Changes effective date from present 20th day after adjournment to 60th day after adjournment. Provides for general appropriation bill, emergency legislation, and other bills to have an earlier or later effective date. Deletes provisions on certification of emergency legislation.

Section 22. Suspension of Laws

Section 22. No power of suspending laws of this state shall be exercised except by the legislature and then only by the same vote required for final passage of the law proposed to be suspended. The vote thereon shall be by record vote.

Section 23. Corporations; Perpetual or Indefinite Duration; Dissolution; Perpetual Franchises or Privileges

Section 23. The legislature may authorize the organization of corporations for perpetual or indefinite duration. Section 24. State and District Officers; Impeachment; Conviction; Effect

Section 24. (A) All state and district officers, whether elected or appointed, shall be liable to impeachment for felonies, incompetency, corruption, extortion, oppression in office, gross misconduct, or habitual drunkenness.

(B) All impeachments shall be originated by the House of Representatives and shall be tried by the Senate. Twothirds of the members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to convict. The Senate may sit for said purpose whether or not the House is in session and may adjourn as it thinks proper.

(C) Judgment of conviction in impeachment cases removes and debars the person from holding any office under the state, but neither conviction nor acquittal shall prevent prosecution and punishment otherwise according to law. Impeachment proceedings shall suspend any officer except the governor or acting governor, and the office shall be filled by the governor until decision of impeachment. Source: La. Const. Art. IX, §$1, 2 (1921).

Comment: Revises present provision relating to grounds for impeachment by replacing phrase "high crimes" with the word "felonies" and deleting "misdemeanors in office" and "favoritism."

Deletes disqualification from practicing law if judge, district attorney, or attorney general is convicted. Changes method of filling the office of a suspended official from appointing authority to governor. Note: Provision in present constitution and this proposed section do not apply to local officers.

COMMITTEE REPORT WITH RESPECT TO COMMITTEE PROPOSAL No. 4-

ARTICLE IV. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

Section 1. Composition

Section 1. (A) The executive branch shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer, and all other executive offices, agencies. and instrumentalities.

(B) All offices, agencies, and other instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers, and duties and responsibilities, except for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, shall be allocated according to function, within not more than twenty departments.

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides for an "executive department" of state government composed of 10 officials, nine of whom are elected. The constitution also provides for an elected attorney general who is an officer of the judicial department, and an elected superintendent of education.

The proposed section defines the "executive branch of state government as including five statewide elected officials and all other agencies, offices, and instrumentalities having executive functions. Deleted as elected officials are the comptroller, register of the land office, commissioner of insurance, commissioner of agriculture, custodian of voting machines, and superintendent of education. The commissioner of conservation is no longer listed as a constitutional officer to be appointed by the governor. The attorney general is classified as an executive rather than a judicial officer. The proposed section also provides for a maximum of twenty departments in the executive branch to be grouped according to function. Section 2. Qualifications

Section 2. (A) To be eligible for any statewide elective office a person must have attained the age of twenty-five years by the date of his election and be a citizen of the United States and of this state for at least five years immediately preceding the date of his election. He shall hold no other public office. except by virtue of his office,

(B) The attorney general shall have been admitted to the practice of law in this state for at least the five years immediately preceding his election.

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that no person shall be eligible to the offices of governor and lieutenant governor who is "less than thirty years of age", or who has not "for at least the ten years preceding his elec-States, or who "holds office under the United States at the time of the election". The attorney general is required, by the 1921 Constitution, to be "learned in the law", and to have "resided and practiced law" as a "duly licensed attorney" in the state for "at least the five years" preceding his election. These officials and all other statewide elected officers are subject to a general constitutional prohibition against dual office-holding; otherwise, there are presently no constitutional eligibility requirements for eight of the eleven elected executive officers.

The proposed section sets the minimum age for eligibility to all statewide elective positions at twenty-five, and the period of state and national citizenship at five years immediately preceding election. The provision against dual office-holding is extended to all offices except those held ex officio. The proposed section also requires that the attorney general shall have been admitted to the practice of law in Louisiana for at least five years immediately preceding his election.

Section 3. Elections and Terms

Section 3. (A) The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, and treasurer shall each be elected statewide for a term of four years by the electors of the state, at the time and place of voting for members of the legislature. A person who has served as governor for more than one and one-half terms in two consecutive terms shall not be elected governor for the next succeeding term.

(B) The returns of the election of such officials shall be transmitted to and be promulgated by the secretary of state in a manner as may be provided by statute. The person having the greatest number of votes for each office shall be declared elected.

(C) If two or more persons have an equal, and the highest number of votes for an office, they shall draw lots to determine the result. The secretary of state shall arrange for the drawing of lots within ten days after the election results are promulgated, and the decision as to the winner shall be final and conclusive. Election contests shall be decided by the courts as may be provided by statute.

(D) The term of office of each elected official shall begin at noon on the second Monday in March next following the election.

(E) No official shall be elected statewide, except as provided by this constitution.
Source: La. Const. Art. V, §$2, 3, 4, 18; Art. VII, §55; Art.

XII, §5 (1921).

Comment: The section provides that all statewide elected officials in the executive branch shall be elected to serve four-year terms.

In Paragraph (A) the elective offices of comptroller, register of the land office, commissioner of agriculture, commissioner of insurance, custodian of voting machines, and superintendent of education are deleted from the source provisions in conformity with provisions of Section 1.

An elected governor continues to be prevented from serving from more than two consecutive terms. The provision that a person succeeding to the governorship, with more than one-half a term remaining, can serve only one consecutive term is new.

In Paragraph (B) the secretary of state rather than the legislature as in the source provision promulgates the election returns of all statewide elective officers

Paragraph (C) which provides that tie votes shall be decided by drawing of lots by the two candidates receiving the same and highest number of votes is new.

In Paragraph (D) the time of taking office for executive officers is changed from the first day following announcement of their election by the legislature, as provided in the 1921 Constitution, to noon on the second Monday in March following their election. (Note: The Schedule must provide that incumbent terms are not affected by this change.)

Paragraph (E) is new, and provides that no official shall be elected statewide except those named in the constitution.

Section 4. Compensation Section 4. (A) The compensation of each elected official within the executive branch shall be fixed by the legislature and shall not be increased or decreased for the term for which the official is elected. No state official shall receive a salary in excess of that paid to the governor.

(B) The lieutenant governor when acting as governor shall receive the same salary as the governor, and an appointed assistant when acting as an elected official shall receive the same salary as the elected official. Source: La. Const. Art. III, §34; Art. V, §§5, 7, 20; Art. VII,

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

Comment: The 1921 Constitution sets the salaries of constitutional officers, and provides that the salary of any public officer may be changed by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the legislature. The present constitution also provides that the lieutenant governor when discharging the duties of governor shall receive the same compensation as the governor.

The proposed revision authorizes the legislature to fix the salary of each elected official within the executive branch. The revision prohibits an increase or decrease in salary for the term for which the official is elected. The proposed section further provides that no state of-

I shall receive a salary in excess of that paid to the governor.

The proposed section also provides that compensation of constitutional successors to elected officials in the event of vacancies, absences, or inability shall be the same as that of the elected official.

Section 5. Powers and Duties of Governor

Section 5. (A) Executive Authority. The governor shall be the chief executive officer of the state and shall faithfully support the constitution and laws of the state.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §$2, 14 (1921).

Comment: This paragraph changes the source provision that the "supreme executive power" is vested in the governor and, instead, designates him as the state's "chief executive officer". The source provision requiring the governor to take care that the "laws be faithfully executed" is changed to require him to "faithfully support the constitution and laws of the state".

(B) Legislative Reports and Recommendations. The governor shall at the beginning of each regular session of the legislature, and may at other times, make reports and recommendations and give information to the legislature concerning the affairs of state, including its complete financial condition.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §13 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution requires the governor to give periodic reports to the legislature concerning affairs of the state and to recommend measures for its consideration.

The proposed section requires the governor to make such reports and recommendations to the legislature at the beginning of each regular session, including information on the financial condition of the state. He may make such reports and recommendations at other times.

(C) Reports and Information. All department heads shall provide the governor with reports and information in writing or otherwise request by him on any subject relating to their respective departments excepting matters relating to investigations of the governor's office.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §13; Art. VI, §39 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution permits the governor to require written information and financial reports from all agencies in the executive branch of state government and from certain local units of government.

The proposed section requires "department heads" to provide the governor with information on their departments when so requested. Information on matters relating to investigations of the governor's office is excepted from the requirement.

(D) Operating Budget. The governor shall prepare the state's annual operating budget, and shall transmit copies thereof to the legislature at least two weeks prior to the first day of each annual session. Upon adoption of the operating budget by the legislature, it shall become the official state budget and shall be executed and administered by the governor. Total appropriations for the year shall not exceed annual revenues as anticipated by the governor in the operating budget.

SOURCE: New

Comment: The provision requires the governor to prepare, execute, and administer the state budget which he is to present to the legislature at least two weeks before the first day of each annual session. Total annual appropriations shall not exceed annual anticipated revenues as determined by the governor in the operating budget.
(E) Capital Budget. The governor shall prepare annually a five-year capital program and shall submit to each regular session of the legislature a proposed capital budget as provided by statute implementing the first year of the program. All capital projects approved by the legislature shall be made a part of the capital budget, and the operating budget fer each year shall provide for amortization of the cost of each such capital project.

Source: New

Comment: The provision requires the governor to prepare annually a five-year capital program and a capital budget which shall include all capital projects. The annual operating budget is to provide funds for amortization of capital costs

(F) Pardon, Commutation, Reprieve, Remission. Except in cases of conviction upon impeachment, the governor may reprieve, may grant commutation of sentence, and may pardon these convicted of offenses against the state and may remit fines and forfeitures imposed for such offenses. In addition, the legislature may provide additional methods for the foregoing and other post-conviction remedies. Source: La. Const. Art. V, $10 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constituion grants the governor power to grant reprieves for all offenses against the state. Except in cases of impeachment or treason, he is empowered to grant pardons, commute sentences, and remit fines and forfeitures on recommendation of a majority of a pardon board consisting of the lieutenant governor, attorney general, and the presiding judge of the sentencing court. The governor may, under present law, grant temporary reprieves for treason, but the final pardoning power for this crime is vested in the legislature. The source provision requires automatic pardons for firstoffender felons upon completion of their sentence.

The proposed section permits the governor to reprieve. grant commutation of sentence, and pardon those convicted of offenses against the state, except in cases of conviction upon impeachment. The governor also may remit fines and forfeitures. The legislature is authorized to provide additional methods for post-conviction remedies. The provision for a three-man pardon board is deleted from the present source.

(G) Signature on Bills; Veto. The date and time when each bill passed by the legislature is delivered to the governor shall be entered thereon. He shall then have thirty calendar days within which to act on it. If he approves, he shall sign it. If he disapproves, he shall veto it, giving his reason therefor, and if the legislature is in session, he shall return it to the house in which it originated within twenty-four hours. If he fails to veto within the time otherwise provided by this constitution, it shall become law.

La. Const. Art. III, §8.2; Art. V, §§15, 17 (1921). Comment: The source provisions require that the governor sign all bills passed by both houses of the legislature. Certain legislative documents, such as resolutions and proposed contitutional amendments, are specifically exempted from requiring his signature. Presently, the governor must act on a bill within ten days after he receives it; otherwise, it becomes law. Procedural details for vetoing, overriding vetoes, and promulgation of signed legislation are set forth in the source provisions.

The proposed section revises the present law by deleting all references to legislative action on vetoes, with the understanding that these provisions will appear in the proposed article dealing with the legislature. It is also assumed that the provision exempting legislative documents from gubernatorial signature will be included in the legislative article. As in the present law, the proposed section provides that bills sent to the governor must be documented on receipt of their delivery to the governor, and reasons must be given for his vetoes. Under the new provision the governor has thirty rather than ten days in which to act; if he fails to act within the time limit, the bill becomes law.

(H) Appropriation Bills. (1) The governor may veto any line item in an appropriation bill. The items vetoed shall be void unless the veto is overridden as prescribed for the passage of any bill over a veto.

(2) The governor shall either veto line items, or use other means provided in the bill, in order that total appropriations for the year shall not exceed anticipated revenues for the

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §16 (1921).

Comment: Paragraph (1) which permits the governor to veto line items in an appropriation bill restates the source provision without substantive change. Paragraph (2) requires the governor either to veto line items in an appropriation bill, or use other means given in the bill to assure that total appropriations for the year do not exceed anticipated revenues.

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

(I) Appointments. (1) The governor shall appoint, subject to confirmation by the Senate, the heads of all departments in the executive branch whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution and all members of boards and commissions in the executive branch whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for by this constitution or by statute.

(2) Should the legislature be in session, the governor shall submit for confirmation by the Senate the names of those appointed within forty-eight hours after the appointment is made. Failure of the Senate to confirm an appointment prior to the end of the session shall be equivalent to rejection.

(3) Should the legislature not be in session, the governor may make interim appointments which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislature, unless submitted to and confirmed by the Senate during such session.

(4) A person not confirmed by the Senate shall not be appointed to the same office during any recess of the legis-

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §1(a); Art. V, §$8, 10; Art. VI, §22(e); Art. VIII, §18 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution requires the governor to appoint, with senatorial confirmation, constitutional officers whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for in the constitution. The legislature is permitted to provide the mode of filling statutory offices. The proposed section requires the governor to appoint, with senatorial confirmation, all statutory and constitutional executive department heads and all boards and commission members whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for by the constitution or by statute.

Under the present law commissions must be signed by the governor and countersigned by the secretary of state. The governor is authorized to make recess appointments where not otherwise provided for in the constitution. Commissions granted for recess appointments are to expire at the end of the next legislative session. Failure of the governor to send a name to the Senate is equivalent to rejection, and persons rejected cannot be appointed to the same office during a Senate recess. The proposed section is substantially the same as the present law, except that should the legislature be in session, the governor must submit names for Senate confirmation within forty-eight hours after the appointment is made. Failure of the Senate to confirm an appointee before the end of a session is equivalent to rejection. The provision requiring signatures on commissions has been delected.

(J) Removal. The governor may remove from office those whom he appoints, except those appointed for a term fixed by this constitution or as may be fixed by statute.

Source: New

Comment: Under the present constituion the governor has no general authority to remove those whom he appoints. Appointed officers are subject to constitutional removal by impeachment, recall, and removal by suit in district courts. (See 1921 Constitution, Art. IX, §1).

The proposed section allows the governor to remove without cause those whom he appoints, except those appointed for fixed terms.

(K) Commander-in-Chief. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the state, except when they are called into service of the federal government. He may call out the armed forces of the state to preserve law and order, to suppress insurrection, to repel invasion, or in other times of emergency. Source: La. Const. Art. XVII, §2 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section restates the source provision without substantive change. Authority is granted to the governor to call out the militia for any emergency as well as for the specifically named purposes of preserving law and order, suppressing insurrection, and repelling in-

(L) Extraordinary Session. (1) The governor may convεne the legislature into extraordinary session by issuance of a preclamation to the legislature at least five days prior to the convening of the session. The proclamation shall state the specific subjects to be considered, the date and time the legislature is to convene, and the number of days for which the legislature is convened. The subject matter of the session may be amended, by proclamation to the legislature, until forty-eight hours prior to the hour at which the legislature convenes. The power to legislate, under the penalty of nullity, shall be limited to the subjects specially enumerated in the latest proclamation convening such extraordinary session. The session shall be limited to the time named therein, and shall not exceed thirty days.

(2) The governor may convene the legislature in extraordinary session without prior notice or proclamation on occasions of public emergencies caused by epidemics, attacks by the enemy, or public catastrophe.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, $14 (1921). Comment: The present constitution permits the governor to convene the legislature in special session in cases of emergencies and on other occasions as he sees fit, and requires him to do so when petitioned by the legislature. Procedural details concerning petitions, notices, and proclama-tions are given. Special sessions, except in cases of emergency, are limited to 30 days and the power to legislate is confined to the subjects enumerated in the call. When the governor convenes the legislature into special session on his own initiative, except for emergencies, he must give five days notice to the legislature.

The proposed revision relates only to special sessions called by the governor and deletes all references to procedures whereby the legislature can convene itself into special session. It is assumed that power of the legislature to convene itself with be provided in the legislative

The governor, under the proposed revision may convene the legislature in emergencies without prior notice or proclamation. He may do so at other times by issuing a proclamation to the legislature at least five days prior to the convening of the session. The sessions are to be limited by the items in the proclamation and the proclamation cannot be amended for a 48-hour period prior to the hour at which the legislature convenes. Special sessions continue to be limited to 30 days. Much of the procedural detail concerning calls for special sessions has been clarified or deleted.

Section 6. Powers and Duties of the Lieutenant Governor Section 6. The lieutenant governor shall serve ex officio as a member on every committee, board, and commission on which the governor serves, exercise the powers delegated to him by the governor, and have such other powers and perform such other duties in the executive branch as may be authorized by this constitution or provided by statute. Source: La. Const. Art. IV, $1(a); Art. V, $$8, 10; Art. VI, $22(e); Art. VIII, $18 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that the lieutenant governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate with authority to break tie votes. He is also named by the Constitution as a member of the State Highway Advisory Board, the Board of Liquidation of State Debt, the Board of Registration, and the State Pardon Board. The proposed revision provides that the lieutenant governor shall serve ex officio on every statutory committee, board, and commission on which the governor serves, exercise powers delegated to him by the governor, and perform other executive functions as may be provided by the constitution or statute.

Section 7. Powers and Duties of the Secretary of State Section 7. There shall be a department of state headed by the secretary of state, who shall serve as the chief elec-tions officer and administer the election laws; administer the laws relative to voting machines or other voting devices as now or may be hereafter provided by this constitution or as may be provided by statute; administer the state corporation and trademark laws; serve as keeper of the Great Seal of the State of Louisiana and attest therewith all official laws, documents, proclamations, and commissions; administer and preserve the official archives and records of the state; promulgate, publish, and retain the originals of all laws enacted by the legislature; countersign all commissions and keep an official registry of same; administer oaths. He shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as may be authorized by this constitution or provided by statute.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, Sec. 21; Art. VI, §22(e) (1921). Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that the secretary of state shall be a member of the State Highway Advisory Board. It also sets forth in various provisions a number of ministerial duties of the secretary relative to the publication of legislation, countersigning of commissions, receiving and recording of public notices, petitions, and election returns.

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

The proposed section is a new provision which creates a department of state, headed by the secretary of state. It sets forth the duties of the secretary which are similar to his present constitutional and statutory duties, except that the secretary is given constitutional authority to administer election laws, including the voting machine law. Since 1960 the custodian of voting machines, a statewide elected official, has administered the state's voting machine law. From 1940 to 1960, the law was administered by a board of voting machines and a custodian, who was the secretary of state. The secretary of state was a member of the board from 1940 to 1959.

Section 8. Powers and Duties of the Attorney General Section 8. There shall be a department of justice, headed by the attorney general who shall be the state's chief legal officer. As may be necessary for the assertion or protection of the rights and interests of the state, the attorney general shall have authority to:

(1) institute, and prosecute or intervene in any legal actions or other proceedings, civil or criminal;

(2) exercise supervision over the several district attorneys throughout the state; and

(3) for cause, supersede any attorney representing the state in any civil or criminal proceeding.

He shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as may be authorized by this constitution or provided by statute.

Art. VII, §§55, 56 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution creates the office of attorney general as a statewise elective official in the judicial branch. His powers and duties are established in various constitutional articles. Primarily, the attorney general is to institute, prosecute, and intervene in criminal or civil suits in which the state has an interest, and to supervise district attorneys. The official is also made a member of the State Highway Advisory Board, the Legislative Bureau, and the State Pardon Board.

The proposed section places the attorney general and the department of justice in the executive branch. The attorney general is made the state's "chief legal officer" and, in addition to the duties presently granted, he is given authority to supersede, for cause and when necessary for the interest of the state, any attorney representing the state in a civil or criminal proceeding.

The revision of this Section will serve to void the ruling in Kemp v. Stanley, 204 La. 110, 15 So. 2d 1 (1943) which limited the authority of the attorney general to intervene in legal matters in which the state has an interest.

Section 9. Powers and Duties of the Treasurer

Section 9. There shall be a department of treasury headed by the state treasurer who shall be responsible for the custody, investment, and disbursement of the public funds of the state. He shall report annually to the governor and the legislature one month in advance of the regular session on the financial condition of the state, and shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as may be authorized by this constitution or provided by statute. Source: Art. IV, $1(a); Art. VI, $22(e) (1921).

Comment: Fiscal duties of the treasurer are set forth in various articles and sections of the present constitution. The treasurer is a constitutional member of the State Highway Advisory Board and the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

The proposed section creates a treasury department to be headed by a state treasurer. The treasurer is responsible for the "custody", investment, and disbursement of state funds. He is required to made an annual financial report to the governor and the legislature.

Section 10. First Assistants

Section 10. Each statewide elected official, except the governor and lieutenant governor, shall each appoint a first assistant, subject to confirmation by the Senate, and may remove him at his pleasure. The official shall submit such as may be provided by statute. The appointment provided appointment to the Senate in the same manner in which the governor submits appointments, and shall be subject to the same procedures and limitations in connection therewith as are imposed upon the governor. The first assistant shall possess the same qualifications as those required for election to that office.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §18; Art. VII, §55 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution permits a number of statewide elected officials to appoint and remove assistants who, under certain conditions, have authority to perform acts and duties of the elected officer.

The proposed section requires Senate confirmation of the appointed assistants of the secretary of state, at-turney general, and treasurer, with provision for their removal at the pleasure of the appointing officer. The first assistant is required to have the same qualifications as are required for those elected to the office.

Section 11. Vacancy in Office of Governor Section 11. The order of succession in the office of governor in the event of vacancy shall be (1) the elected lieutenant governor, (2) the elected secretary of state, (3) the elected attorney general, (4) the elected treasurer, (5) the presiding officer of the Senate, (6) the speaker of the House of Representatives, and then as may be provided by statute. Successors shall serve the remaining term for which the governor was elected.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §6 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution establishes the following order of succession in case of vacancy in the office of governor: lieutenant governor, president pro tempore of the Senate, secretary of state acting until a president pro tempore is elected.

In the proposed section the first priority in the event of a vacancy in the office of governor is given to statewide elected officials, followed by legislative officers and, thereafter, as the legislature may provide by law. Successors are to serve the unexpired term for which the governor was elected.

Section 12. Vacancy in Office of Lieutenant Governor Section 12. Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of the lieutenant governor, the governor shall nominate a lieutenant governor, who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority vote of the elected members of each house of the legislature.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §9 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that in the event of a vacancy in the office of the lieutenant governor, the president pro tempore of the Senate shall discharge the duties of the office.

The proposed section requires that a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor be filled by an appointee of the governor confirmed by the legislature.

Section 13. Vacancies in Other Statewide Elective Offices Section 13. The order of succession in any other statewide elective office, in the event of a vacancy in such office, shall be the appointed first assistant in such office. Successors to such offices shall serve for the remainder of the term for which the official was elected. Source: La. Const. Art. V, $18; Art. VII, $56 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that the attorney general shall appoint a first assistant who, in case of a vacancy in the office of attorney general, shall perform the duties of the office until another attorney general has been elected and qualified.

The 1921 Constitution also provides that statewide elected officials, exclusive of the governor, lieutenant governor, commissioner of agriculture, and register of the state land office, are each authorized to appoint and remove an assistant who may perform duties of the office when the elected official is absent or unable to act.

The proposed section provides that appointed first assistants of elected officials, exclusive of the governor and lieutenant governor, shall succeed to the elective offices in the event of vacancies in these offices. As successor, the assistant will serve the unexpired term for which the official was elected.

Section 14. Other Vacancies

Section 14. (A) Where no other provision therefor is made by this constitution, by statute, by local government charged, or by ordinance, the governor shall have the power to fill any vacancy occurring in any elective office. If, at the time a vacancy occurs in such office, and the unexpired portion of the term of office is more than one year, the vacancy shall be filled at an election within six months,

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

for herein shall be effective only until a successor is duly elected and qualified.

(B) Nothing in this Section shall be construed as changing the qualifications for the various offices involved, and all appointments must be of persons who otherwise would be eligible to hold offices to which appointed.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, $8; Art. V, $18; Art. VI, $$19.2, 26; Art. VII, $69; Art. X, $2; Art. XII, $$4, 7 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution contains a number of separate provisions and considerable procedural detail requiring the governor to fill vacancies in particular offices. It also contains a general provision allowing the governor to make appointments not otherwise provided for in the constitution.

The proposed section is a general provision which requires the governor to fill vacancies in elective offices if not otherwise provided for in the constitution, by statute, by local government charter, or by ordinance. Elections are to be held within a six-month period following the occurrence of a vacancy where the unexpired term is longer than one year, and in any such case, the governor is to make appointments only until a successor is elected. Other procedures are to be determined by law. Gubernatorial appointees to vacancies must possess the same qualifications as required by law for persons elected to the position.

Section 15. Definition of Vacancy

Section 15. A vacancy as used in this constitution shall occur in the event of death, resignation, removal by any means, or the failure to take office for any reason.

Section 16. Declaration of Disability

Section 16. Whenever a statewide elective official transmits to the presiding officer of the Senate and the speaker of the House of Representatives a written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, the person succeeding to the office in the event of a vacancy shall assume the powers and duties of the office as acting official.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §§6, 18 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that in case of the inability of the governor to act, the powers and duties of his office shall devolve upon the same officers who succeed to governorship in the event of a vacancy. Successors act until the inability of the governor is removed.

The 1921 Constitution also provides that the statewide elective officers who are authorized to appoint assistants may direct the assistants to carry out duties of the office in event of the official's inability to act.

The proposed section applies to all statewide elected officials. It allows each official to make an official declaration of his inability at the time it commences and at the time it ceases. The constitutionally named successor acts for the official during the period of inability.

The proposed section is similar to disability provisions of the federal constitution. (Amendment XXV, § 3)

Section 17. Determination of Inability

Section 17. (A) Whenever a majority of the statewide elected officials determine that any other such official is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, they shall transmit to the presiding officer of each house of the legislature and to such official, and shall file in the office of the secretary of state, their written declaration that such official is unable to exercise the powers and perform the duties of his office. Thereafter the constitutional successor shall assume the office as acting official unless, within forty-eight hours after such filing in the office of the secretary of state, such official files in said office and transmits to said presiding officers his written counter-declaration that he is able to exercise such powers and perform such duties.

(B) The legislature shall convene at noon on the third calendar day after the filing of any counter-declaration, which may be filed by such official at any time. Should two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature fail to adopt a resolution within seventy-two hours declaring that probable justification for the determination that inability exists, such officer shall continue or resume in office.

(C) Should two-thirds of the elected members of each house so adopt a resolution declaring that probable justification exists for the declaration of inability, the constitu-tional successor shall assume the powers and duties of the office and such resolution shall be transmitted forthwith to the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

(D) By preference and priority over all other matters, the supreme court shall determine the issue of inability after due notice and hearing, by a majority vote of members elected to said court under such rules as it may adopt.

(E) A judgment of the supreme court affirming inability may be reconsidered by the court, after due notice and hearing, either upon its own motion or upon the application of such official. Upon proper showing and by majority vote of its elected members, the court may, upon such reconsideration, determine that no inability then exists, whereupon such officer shall immediately resume the powers and duties of his office.

Comment: The proposed section, similar to inability provision of the federal constitution (Amendment XXV, § 4) provides a procedure whereby the inability of statewide elected officials can be determined.

The procedure is initiated by a written declaration by the elected officials acting in concert, and the officer declared disabled has the privilege of responding to their declaration. If there is a difference of opinion about the cessation of the disability, the legislature may resolve by a two-thirds vote that "probable cause" for inability exists, and the issue shall then be finally decided by the state supreme court both initially and on reconsideration.

Section 18. Absences

Section 18. In the event of a temporary absence of the governor from the state, the lieutenant governor shall act as governor. In the event of a temporary absence of a statewide elected official from the state, the appointed first assistant shall act in his absence.

Source: La. Const. Art. V, §§6, 18 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that during absences of the governor, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon persons named as successors to the office in case of a vacancy. An 1874 Louisiana case held that "the absence must be such as would affect injuriously the public interest" before powers and duties would devolve on the lieutenant governor. The 1921 Constitution also provides that other named statewide elected offi-cials may appoint assistants who then "shall" act for them during their absences.

The proposed section provides that constitutionally named successors are required to act on behalf of the elected officials, whether or not so requested, when the elected officers are temporarily absent.

Section 19. Dual Office-Holding; Prohibition

Section 19. (A) No person holding, under the government of this state or any of its political subdivisions, any office or employment of trust or any office or employment which entitles him to any per diem, salary or other emolument of office shall at the same time hold any other such office or employment with the United States, any foreign power, or any other state; nor shall any such person hold more than one such office or employment with this state or any of its political subdivisions.

(B) For purposes of this Section, the following shall not be considered to be offices or employment described in Paragraph (A) of this Section: (1) ex officio positions; (2) notaries public; (3) those serving on boards, commissions, and other instrumentalities performing only advisory func-tions; (4) delegates to, as well as officials and employees of, any constitutional convention; (5) members in the reserve of the armed forces and the national guard; and (6) election commissioners. Source: La. Const. Art. XIX, §4 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section prohibits any person holding a state or local office of employment or trust which entitles him to a per diem, salary, or emolument from holding any other such office or employment under the United States, a foreign power, or any other state. A person is prohibited from holding more than one office of trust or employment with the state or any of its political subdivisions. Specific exceptions are listed.

Section 20. Code of Ethics; Board of Ethics

Section 20. (A) The legislature shall enact a code of ethics prohibiting conflict between public duty and private interests of all state employees and elected officials.

(B) The legislature shall create a board or boards of ethics which shall investigate all allegations of violations of such a code, and shall have such other powers and duties consistent therewith as may be provided by statute. Source: La. Const. Art. XIX, §27 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section mandates the legislature to enact a code of ethics for state employees and elected officials. Sections in the source provision stating a preamble and declaration of policy have been deleted. Also deleted are provisions naming specific boards and provisions for appellate procedures.

Paragraph (B) requires the legislature to create a board or boards of ethics to investigate violations of the ethics code.

Section 21. Impeachment

Section 21. (A) Any state and district official, whether elected or appointed, shall be liable to impeachment for commission or conviction of felonies or malfeasance during his term of office, or for gross misconduct.

(B) All impeachments shall be by the House of Representatives, and shall be tried by the Senate, whose members shall be upon oath or affirmation for that purpose, and a vote of two-thirds of the senators elected shall be necessary to convict. The Senate may sit for said purpose whether the House be in session or not, and may adjourn as it thinks proper. Conviction upon impeachment shall result in immediate removal from office and shall prohibit the official from holding any office under the government of this state or any of its political subdivisions. Nothing herein shall be construed to prevent any other action, prosecution, or punishment authorized by statute. Source: La. Const. Art. IX, §§1, 2 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section makes a number of changes in the impeachment provisions of the 1921 Constitution.

In Paragraph (A) the grounds for removal have been changed to include commission or conviction of felonies or malfeasance during a term of office, or gross misconduct. Eliminated are "high crimes and misdemeanors in office", "incompetency", "corruption", "favoratism", "extortion", "oppression in office", and "habitual drunkenness".

In (B) the phrase "and shall disqualify any judge or district attorney, or attorney general from practicing law" which appears in the 1921 provision has been deleted as has the provision that a supreme court judge shall preside when the governor is on trial. Conviction results in immediate removal from office and bars future office holding.

Under the 1921 constitutional provision, officers are suspended when impeachment proceedings are begun. This provision has been deleted from the proposed section.

Section 22. Reorganization

Section 22. The governor may propose to the legislature, on or before the first day of any session, a plan of re-allocation of the functions, powers, duties, and responsibilities of all departments, offices, agencies, and other instrumentalities of the executive branch, except those functions, powers, duties, and responsibilities allocated by this constitution, among and within not more than twenty departments. The legislature, by a majority vote of the elected members of each house, may disapprove such plan, but may not substantively amend it.

Source: La. Const. Art. III, §32; Art. V, § 1 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution vests the power of re-organization in the legislature. The proposed section would give the governor constitutional authority to reallocate nonconstitutional executive functions, powers, duties, and responsibilities into not more than 20 departments. The legislature could disapprove the governor's plan by a majority vote of elected members, but could plications, petitions, and proposed rate schedules within substantively not amend it. The governor's plan would have to be submitted on the first day of a legislative session.

Section 23. Mandatory Reorganization

Section 23. The legislature shall allocate the functions, powers, duties, and responsibilities of all departments, offices, agencies, and other instrumentalities of the executive branch, except those functions, powers, duties, and responsibilities allocated by this constitution, among and within not more than twenty departments, such allocation to become operative on or before eighteen months after the effective date of this constitution. Such legislative allocation shall not be subject to the governor's veto. Should the legislature fail to make such allocation, the governor within six months shall effect such allocation by executive order. Source: New

Comment: The proposal for scheduling reorganization would require the legislature to initiate a reorganization of the executive branch into not more than 20 departments, exclusive of constitutional powers and duties, on or before 18 months after the effective date of this constitution. The governor cannot veto the allocation, but if the legislature fails to act, the governor can reorganize by executive order.

ARICLE IV. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

Section 1. Public Service Commission

Section 1, (A) Composition; Term. There shall be a Public Service Commission which shall consist of five members elected at the time fixed for congressional elections from separate districts as may be established by statute for overlapping terms of six years. The commission annually shall elect a chairman from one of its members. Source: La. Const. Art. VI, §§3, 8 (1921).

Comment: The proposed revision changes the composition of the Public Service Commission from three to five memers and retains the six-year term of office and time of election. Staggered terms of the commissioners are to be implemented by the legislature. Deleted are provisions relating to conflict of interest, transition from Railroad Commission of Louisiana to Louisiana Public Service Commission, salary, expenses, employees, and domicile. The present provision establishing three specific geographic districts to replaced with a provision for five new districts as may be established by law. The commission is to elect a chairman from one of its members.

(B) Powers and Duties. Except as otherwise provided by this constitution the commission shall regulate all common carriers and other public utilities. It shall adopt and enforce reasonable rules, regulations, and procedures necessary for the discharge of its duties, and shall have such other powers and perform such other duties as may be provided by statute.

Source: La. Const. Art. VI, § 4 (1921).

Comment: The proposed revision shortens the present constitutional provision. It provides no substantive change except deletion of the prohibition against the commission's jurisdiction over direct sales of natural gas to industry. That prohibition is presently provided in La. R.S. 45:303. The power of the commission to regulate common carriers and public utilities is limited by other applicable constitutional provisions; under present constitutional law, it is not so limited.

The phrase "common carriers and other public utilities" is intended to include all carriers and utilities specifically enumerated in the present constitution.

(C) Limitation. The commission shall have no power to regulate any class of common carrier or public utility owned, operated, or presently regulated by the governing authority of any one or more political subdivisions, except by the consent of a majority of the electors voting in an election held for that purpose; provided, however, that such political subdivision may reinvest itself with such regulatory power in the same manner as it was surrendered. Source: La. Const. Art. VI, § 7 (1921).

Comment: The revised section shortens but provides no substantive change from the present constitutional provisions.

(D) Decisions on Applications, Petitions, and Schedules. (1) The commission shall render its final decision on ap-

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

twelve months from the date such application, petition, or proposed schedule is filed.

(2) If its decision is not rendered within six months from the filing date of any proposed rate schedule, it shall be deemed to be tentatively approved and, pending final approval, modification, or rejection may be put into effect subject to such protective bond or security requirements as may be provided by statute. If the commission disapproves the proposed schedule, in whole or in part, the carrier or utility may place or continue the schedule in effect under the bond or security, subject to any appeal and final action by a court of last resort, to cover any refund that may be finally directed. Refund claims therefor in the manner provided by statute shall be filed within one year after such final action.

(3) Any utility filing a proposed rate schedule shall, within twenty days, give notice thereof by publication in the official state journal and in the official journal of each parish within the geographical area in which the schedule would become applicable. Any person affected by the proposed rate schedule may intervene and may, should the commission not render its decision within twelve months, appeal as if such decision had been rendered.

Source: La. Const. Art. VI, §§5, 6 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that orders of the Public Service Commission establishing common carrier or public utility rates shall go into effect when fixed by the commission and remain until set aside by the commission or the courts. Conditions for issuance of temporary restraining orders are given. Orders of the commission are enforced subject to constitutional penalties.

The proposal provides that rate schedules become tentatively approved, subject to statutory bond or security requirements, if the commission does not act within six months from the time the schedule is filed. If the commission fails to act within 12 months, persons affected by rate schedules may intervene and file suit as if the decision had been rendered. If the commission disapproved the rate schedule, the rates may be placed in effect under bond or security pending judicial review. Refund suits may be filed only within one year after court action. There are no penalty provisions in the proposed revision.

(E) Appeals. Appeals from the orders of the Public Service Commission must be filed with the district court, at the domicile of the Public Service Commission, with a direct appeal to the supreme court, as a matter of right. Source: La. Const. Art. VI, §5 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 Constitution provides that appeals from orders and decrees of the Public Service Commission shall be filed with the Nineteenth Judicial District Court and thereafter directly with the Louisiana Supreme Court. Provisions in the present source relating to trial procedures, delays, and bond requirements when the commission appeals have been deleted from the proposed revision. Otherwise, no substantive changes have been made from the present constitutional provision.

Section 2. Change of Parish Lines; Election

Section 2. Before taking effect any law changing parish lines, consolidating parishes, dissolving parishes, or creating new parishes shall be submitted to the electors of the parishes to be affected at a special election held for that purpose. The change shall take effect only if two-thirds of the total vote cast on the question in each affected parish is in favor thereof.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §$2, 4 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section provides for consolidation, dissolution, changing parish lines, and creation of new parishes only after approval by a two-thirds vote of the electors voting on the question in each affected parish. The source provides that parishes may be dissolved and merged by a two-thirds vote of the electors voting on the question in the parish to be dissolved and approval by a majority vote of the electors voting on the question in the parish or parishes into which the dissolved parish is to become incorporated.

Section 3. New or Enlarged Parishes; Adjustment of Assets and Liabilities

Section 3. When a parish is enlarged or created from contiguous territory, it shall be entitled to a just proportion of the property and assets and shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the parish or parishes from which the territory is taken.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, $5 (1921).
Comment: The proposed section is a restatement of the source provision and makes no change in the law.

Section 4. Change of Location of Parish Seat

Section 4. Upon the written petition of not less than twenty-five percent of the electors, as certified to by the registrar of voters, the governing authority of a parish shall call an election on the question of changing the location of the parish seat. The location of a parish seat shall not be changed unless two-thirds of the total vote cast on the question is in favor thereof.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §2 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section retains the requirement of a two-thirds approval by the electors voting at a special election to effect a change in the location of the parish seat and adds the method by which said election shall be called.

Section 5. Municipalities; Incorporation, Consolidation,

Merger, and Government

Section 5. The legislature shall provide by general law for the incorporation, consolidation, merger, and government of municipalities. No special law shall be enacted to create a municipal corporation or to amend, modify, or repeal its charter; however, if a municipality is operating under a special legislative charter it may be amended, modified, or repealed by special law as long as such municipality continues to operate under such charter. Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §§10, 40 (1921).

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

provide for incorporation, consolidation, mereger and givernment of municipalities only by general law. The source provision prohibiting the enactment of special laws to affect the charter of a municipality is retained without substantive change.

Section 6. Except as provided in this constitution, the Section 6. Excapt as provided in this constitution, the legislature may classify parishes or municipalities according to population or on any other reasonable basis related to the purpose of this classification, and legislation may be limited in its effect to any of such class or classes; provided, however, no statute which is applicable to fewer than six parishes or municipalities shall become operative in any such parish or municipality until approved by ordinance enacted by the governing authority of the parish or municipality.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §22 (1921).

Comment: (a) Under the source provision, legislation applicable to fewer than the five largest cities of the state would not become operative in the city of New Orleans until approved by a majority of the electors of that city voting on the question.

(b) The revision deals with laws which classify either parishes or municipalities and provides that if a law is applicable to fewer than six parishes or municipalities, the law becomes operative in the parish or municipality to which it applies only if approved by the governing authority of the parish or municipality. Thus, the law becomes operative in a municipality or parish where it is approved, even if it does not become operative in others. Section 7. Existing Home Rule Charters and Plans of

Government of Parishes and Municipalities Ratified

Section 7. (A) The plans of government and home rule charters of the parishes of East Baton Rouge, Jefferson, and Plaquemines and of the cities of New Orleans, Baton Rouge, and Shreveport shall remain in effect, and may be amended, modified, or repealed as provided therein. Each of them shall retain the authority, powers, rights, privileges. and immunities granted by its charter. Each shall be subject to the duties imposed by the applicable constitutional provisions under which its plan or charter was adopted. Each of them also shall enjoy such additional powers and functions as are granted to local governmental subdivisions by provisions of this constitution, including Sections 8 and 10 of this Article, unless the exercise of such powers and functions is prohibited by its charter.

(B) Every other home rule charter adopted or authorized when this constitution is adopted shall remain in effect and may be amended, modified, or repealed as pro-

Comment: (a) The source provisions provide in detail for the establishment and operation of the plan of government for the parishes of East Baton Rouge and Jefferson, and the cities of Baton Rouge, New Orleans, and Shreveport. Since the source provisions provide for purely local matters, it is not necessary to include the detailed provisions in the text of the constitution.

(b) Under Const. Art. XIV, $3(second d), detailed procedures are set out for the adoption of a charter commission form of parish government. Such a plan of government has been adopted in Plaquemines Parish and is specifically ratified in this Section.

(c) The proposed section authorizes existing home rule charter local governments to exercise the powers and functions granted in proposed Sections 8 and 10 of this Article, relative to powers and functions of other local governmental subdivisions and home rule charter governments adopted under the provisions of proposed Section 10, unless the exercise thereof is prohibited by its charter.

(d) Paragraph (B) gives effect to any home rule charter adopted or authorized but not effective on the effective date of the new constitution.

Section 8. Home Rule Charter

Section 8. (A) Any local governmental subdivision may draft, adopt, or amend a charter of government to be known as a home rules charter in accordance with the provisions Comment: The proposed section authorizes the incorporation of this Section. The governing authority of any such local governmental subdivision may appoint a commission to prepare and propose a charter, or may call an election for the purpose of electing such a commission.

(B) The governing authority of any such local governmental subdivision shall call an election to elect a commission to prepare and propose a charter or alternate charter when presented with a petition signed by not less than fifteen percent of the electors who live within the boundaries of the affected subdivision, as certified by the registrar of vaters.

(C) A home rule charter shall be adopted when approved by a majority of the electors who vote on the charter proposal at an election called for that purpose.

(D) Two or more local governmental subdivisions situated within the boundaries of one parish may avail themselves of the provisions of this Section, provided that a majority of the electors in each affected local governmental subdivision who vote in an election held for that purpose vote in favor thereof. The legislature shall provide for the method of appointment or election of a commission to prepare and propose such a charter consistent with Paragraph A of this Section; provided, however, that at least one member of the commission shall be elected or appointed from each affected local governmental subdivision. The legislature shall provide the method by which the electors of more than one local governmental subdivision within the boundaries of one parish may petition for an election for such purpose consistent with Paragraph B of this Section.

(E) A home rule charter, or any amendment thereto, adopted pursuant to the provisions of this Section, shall provide for the structure, organization, powers, and functions for the government of the local governmental subdivision, which may include the exercise and performance of any power and function necessary, requisite, or proper for the management of its affairs, not denied by general law or this constitution; provided, however, the legislature shall not pass any law the effect of which changes, modifies, or affects the structure, organization and/or the particular distribution and redistribution of the powers and functions of any local governmental subdivision which operates under a home rule charter. Each of them shall also enjoy such additional powers and functions as are granted to local governmental subdivisions by previsions of this constitution, including Section 10 of this Article, unless the exercise of such powers and functions is prohibited by its charter.

(Comment: (a) The source required the legislature to enact general laws under which a municipality could adopt a home rule charter (see R.S. 33:1381 et seq.).

(b) The proposed section authorizes a local governmental subdivision or two or more local governmental subdivisions to draft, adopt, or amend a home rule charter form of government if approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question.

(c) A method whereby electors may petition the governing authority to prepare a charter is provided in the revision and is new.

- (d) A local governmental subdivision is authorized to provide for its structure, organization, powers, and functions in its home rule charter, to include any power and function necessary, requisite, or proper for the management of its affairs, not denied by general law or the constitution.
- (e) The proposed section authorizes home rule charter local governments created under this Section to exercise the powers and functions granted in the new constitution, particularly those in Section 10 of this Article, relative to powers and functions of other local governmental subdivisions, unless the exercise thereof is prohibited by its charter. Section 9. Home Rule Parish; Incorporation of Cities,

Towns, and Villages

Section 9. When two-thirds of the electors as certified by the registrar of voters of an unincorporated settlement in any parish operating under a home rule charter or a home rule plan of government sign and present to the governor a petition and meet other necessary requirements as set forth under the general laws providing for the incorpora-tion of cities, towns, and villages, such cities, towns, and villages may be incorporated; provided, however, no such newly incorporated area shall include any property previously included in any industrial area or district.

of settlements in parishes operating under a home rule charter or home rule plan of government. The Revised Statutes set forth the requirements that must be met before incorporation is possible (R.S. 33:32-33, 51-52).

Section 10. Powers of Other Local Governmental Sub-

Section 10, (A) Any local governmental subdivision may exercise and perform any power and function necessary, requisite, or proper for the management of its affairs not denied to it by its charter, by this constitution, or by general law, including but not limited to the power (1) to legislate upon, regulate, conduct, and control all matters of local governmental administration; (2) to define the powers, duties, and qualifications of parochial or municipal employees; (3) to provide for the protection of the public health, safety, morals, and welfare; (4) to create special districts; (5) to license; (6) to tax under the limitations provided in this constitution or the general laws of this state; (7) to incur debt and issue bonds, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

(B) Any local governmental subdivision may exercise concurrently with the state any power or function pertaining to its government and affairs to the extent that the legislature by general law does not specifically limit the concurrent exercise of any such power or functions or specifically declare the state's exercise of any such power or function to be exclusive except as provided in this Article.

(C) Powers and functions of local governmental subdivisions shall be construed liberally in favor of such local governmental subdivisions.

Source: New

Comment: (a) The provisions in the proposed section grant broad powers of local self-government to local governmental subdivisions which do not operate under a home rule charter. The grant of powers is accomplished in two ways. First, local governmental subdivisions are given general authority to exercise any power and perform any function relating to their government and affairs not denied by its charter, this constitution, or general law. Second, four important powers—to regulate, to license, to tax, and to incur indebtedness-are enumerated in the powers given to local governmental subdivisions.

(b) Paragraph (B allows local governmental subdivisions to exercise concurrent power with the state unless such exercise is prohibited or limited by the legislature.

(c) For a similar provision see the Illinois Constitution, Art. VII, §6(a), 6(i), 6(m) (1970).

Section 11. Limitations of Local Governmental Subdivi-

Section 11. Local governmental subdivisions do not have the power (1) to incur debt payable from ad valorem tax receipts maturing more than forty years from the time it is incurred; (2) to define and provide for the punishment of a felony; or (3) to enact private or civil ordinances governing civil relationships.

Comment: (a) Enumerates three restrictions on the broad grant of power grive local governmental subdivisions in Section 10 of this Article.

(b) For a similar provision, see the Illinois Constitution. Art. VII, §6(d) and Model State Constitutions, Sixth Edition (Revised), Art. VIII, $8.02 (1968).

Section 12. Local Officials

Section 12. The electors of each local governmental subdivision shall have the exclusive right to elect the members of their governing authority and, if a plan, or form of government or home rule charter so provides, their chief executive officer at elections held in accordance with the election laws of the state. Such officials shall not be subject to removal by the legislature. The salaries of these officials shall not be reduced during the terms for which they are elected. Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, $40(b) (1921). Comment: The proposed section retains the source provision but broadens it to include parish officials. Section 13. Filling of Vacancies; Appointment

Section 13. (A) Vacancies occasioned by death, resignation, or otherwise, in the office of police juror, city council, parish or municipal governing authority, or special district thereof, mayor, and any other local official elected within Comment: (a) The proposed section allows the legislature the boundaries of the local governmental subdivision, shall be filled by appointment by the governing authority of the local governmental subdivision, unless otherwise provided 14 of this Article.

of the affected local governmental subdivision. Vacancies in the membership of city or parish school boards shall be filled by appointment by the remaining members thereof. A tie vote by the governing authority of the local governmental subdivision or school board shall be broken by its presiding officer regardless of the fact that he may already have voted as a member of the appointing body.

(B) If, at the time a vacancy occurs in an elective office for which appointment is provided in Paragraph A of this Section, the unexpired portion of the term of office is more than one year, a special election to fill the vacancy shall be called by the governing authority, and held without the necessity of a call by the governor, not more than six months nor less than three months, after first receipt of notice of the vacancy by the secretary of state, to be given as hereinafter provided, in the local governmental subdivision or special district thereof in which the vacancy occurred, and in such case the appointment provided for in Paragraph A of this Section shall be effective only until a successor is duly elected and qualified.

(C) Upon being informed of the occurrence of a vacancy in any of the offices specified in Paragraph A of this Section, the clerk or chief clerk of the district court in the parish where the vacancy occurred, and in the parish of Orleans the clerk or chief clerk of the criminal district court, shall, within twenty-four hours after being thus informed, notify the secretary of state in writing by registered or certified mail of the occurrence of the vacancy. Upon receipt of such notice, the secretary of state shall, within twenty-four hours after such receipt, notify in writing by registered or certified mail all election officials, including party committees and boards of supervisors of elections, having any duty to perform in connection with a special election to fill such vacancy, of the occurrence of the vacancy.

(D) Nothing in this Section shall be construed as changing the qualifications for the various offices involved and all appointments must be of persons who would otherwise be eligible to hold offices to which appointed.

(E) The provisions of this Section shall apply to all local governmental subdivisions unless otherwise provided by the home rule charter or the home rule plan of government of the affected local governmental subdivision.

(F) Vacancies occasioned by death, resignation, or otherwise in the office of sheriff, assessor, clerk of a district court, or coroner shall be filled by appointment by the governing authority of the parish at the time and in the manner provided in Paragraphs (B) and (C) of Section 14 of this Article.

(G) The provisions of this Section shall not apply to the office of judge of any state court of record or district attorney.

Source: La. Const. Art. VII, §69 (1921).

Comment: (a) The proposed section authorizes the governing authority of the local governmental subdivision wherein the vacancy occurs, rather than the governor, to fill vacancies. Deleted from the source provision are the elected offices of district judge and district attorney.

(b) The proposed section does not apply to local governmental subdivisions operating under a home rule charter.

(c) Other provisions in the proposed section restate the source provision and make no change in the law.

Section 14. Legislation Increasing Financial Burden of Political Subdivisions; Local Approval

Section 14. No law requiring an increase in expenditures, or deductions from the funds of a political subdivision for salaries of local public officials or for wages, hours, working conditions, pension and retirement benefits, vacation or sick leave benefits of political subdivision employees, or an increase in commission of or for local political subdivision offices, except a law providing for civil service, minimum wages, working conditions, and retirement benefits for firemen and policemen, shall have effect until approved by ordinance enacted by the governing authority of the political subdivision affected thereby or until the legislature appropriates funds to the affected political subdivision for that purpose and only to the extent and amount that such to enact laws relative to salaries of local public officials or wages, hours, working conditions, pension and retirement benefits, vacation or sick leave benefits of political subdivision employees or commissions of or for political subdivision offices. However, any law requiring an increase in expenditures or deductions from the funds of a political subdivision will not be effective unless the legislature appropriates the funds to the political subdivision to cover the increase or the governing authority of the _political subdivision approves the increase.

(b) The proposed section allows the legislature to enact laws relative to civil service, minimum wages, working conditions, and retirement benefits for firemen and policemen to be effective without the appropriation of funds or approval by the governing authority of the affected political subdivision.

Section 15. Appropriation to Political Subdivisions

Section 15. When the legislature appropriates funds to one or more political subdivisions and the legislature does not specify the purposes for which such funds shall be expended, or the amounts to be expended therefor, the expenditure of such funds shall be determined solely by the governing authority of the political subdivision or political subdivisions to which the funds are appropriated. The legislature may require a report concerning the allocation and expenditure of such funds.

Source: New

Comment: The proposed section grants to political subdivisions control over specific expenditure of funds appropriated by the legislature when the legislature fails to specify within the act making the funds available the particular purposes and amounts for which such funds shall be allocated.

Section 16. Creation of Special Districts; Authority Section 16. The power of the legislature by general or special law to create or authorize the creation of special districts, boards, agencies, commissions, and authorities of every type, to define their powers, and subject to the limitations imposed in this constitution, to grant the special districts, boards, agencies, commissions, and authorities so created such rights, powers, and authorities as it deems proper, including but not limited to, the power of taxation, the power to incur debt and issue bonds, and the power to reclaim property from the beds of lakes and streams, is hereby confirmed.

Source: New

Comment: (a) The proposed section not only clearly vests plenary authority in the legislature to create or authorize the creation of special districts and authorities of every type and define their powers, but also negates any argument that further constitutional authority is necessary for the legislature to exercise this function. The legislature will, however, be subject to limitations otherwise provided by this constitution, such as tax exemptions and debt limitations.

- (b) The effect of the proposed section is to remove from the 1921 Constitution the following provisions: (1) Lake Charles Harbor and Terminal District ($30.2); (2) navigation and river improvement districts ($$30.3 and 30.4); (3) Red River Waterway (-30.5); (4) garbage districts ($34); (5) Fourth Jefferson Drainage District (§35); (6) Jefferson Parish community center and playground districts (§36); (7) Jefferson Parish subsewerage districts (§37.1); (8) Jefferson Parish public improvement districts (§38); (9) Calcasieu community center and playground districts (§39.1); (10) Jefferson Parish drainage districts (§43); (11) Sabine River Authority (§45); (12) Louisiana Stadium and Exposition District (§47). The foregoing list is not exclusive.
- (c) It is the purpose of the proposed section to continue by legislative acts the special districts, boards, agencies, commissions, and authorities provided for in the present Article XIV. Legislation should be submitted to place them in the revised statutes.

Section 17. Governing Authorities of Local Governmental Subdivisions; Controls Over Agencies They Create

Section 17. (A) In addition to any other powers granted by the legislature, the governing authority of a local govern- is hereby declared to be for a public purpose.

mental subdivision shall have the following powers over any agency heretofore or hereafter created by it: (1) to appoint and remove members of the governing body of the agency; (2) to exercise budgetary and fiscal control over the agency, including the power to modify or veto its operating budgets, or veto or reduce line items; or to substitute a different budget therefor; (3) to abolish the governing body of the agency and to substitute itself therefor, with authority to exercise all of its powers and functions; and (4) to abolish the agency if the obligations or indebtedness of the agency are not thereby impaired.

(B) No such agency shall have authority to levy a tax, impose any charge, or issue bonds unless the proposal therefor is first approved by the governing authority of the local governmental subdivision; provided, however, that after such original approval is granted no further approval shall be required.

(C) If the creation of the agency required the concurrence of two or more local governmental subdivisions, concurrence of all of them shall be required for the exercise of the above powers.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §46 (1921). Comment: The proposed section restates the source provision without substantive change, except it authorizes the governing authority of a local governmental subdivision to remove members of the governing body of an agency created by it and authorizes the governing authority of a local governmental subdivision to substitute itself for the governing board and to exercise all of its powers and functions.

Section 18. Special Districts and Public Agencies; Consolidation, Merger, and Assumption of Debt

Section 18. (A) Any local governmental subdivision may consolidate and merge into itself any special district or public agency, except school districts, situated and having jurisdiction entirely within the boundaries of such local governmental subdivision. Upon such merger or consolidation the local governmental subdivision shall succeed to and be vested with all of the rights, revenues, resources, jurisdiction, authority, and powers of such special district or public agency. No such action shall take effect unless a majority of the electors in such special district and a majority of the electors in the local governmental subdivi-sion who vote in an election held for that purpose vote in favor thereof.

(B) If the special district or public agency which is abolished has any outstanding indebtedness, the authority provided for by this Section shall not be exercised unless provision is made for the assumption of such indebtedness by the governing authority or authorities of the local governmental subdivisions involved.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §14(k) (1921).

Comment: (a) The source provides the legislature may authorize any parish to assume the debt of certain enumerated special districts. The proposed section authorizes any local governmental subdivision to merge into itself any district or public agency, except a school district, lying entirely within its boundaries. The requirement of legislative authorization is removed. The present provision requires a majority vote of property taxpayers voting on the question, in number and amount to approve the action. The proposed provision requires a majority vote of the electors. This brings the provision into conformity with recent United States Supreme Court decisions eliminating the taxpayer requirement for voting in such elections.

(b) The proposed section requires the local governmental subdivision to assume any indebtedness of the special district as a condition of the merger.

(c) The present provision only provides for merger when the special district has a debt. Under the proposed section, a local governmental subdivision may merge into itself a special district which has no debt.

Section 19. Historical Preservation Districts

Section 19. (A) In order to promote the educational, cultural, economic, and general welfare of the public through the preservation and protection of buildings, sites, monuments, structures, areas, and districts of historic or architectural interest or importance, each local governmental subdivision of the state, acting through a commission or otherwise, shall have the power and authority to establish, operate and maintain historic preservation areas and districts by the adoption of appropriate ordinances and laws, which Comment: The source deals exclusively with the powers and duties of the Vieux Carre Commission. The proposed section authorizes local governmental subdivisions, acting through a commission or otherwise, to establish, operate, and maintain historical preservation areas or districts. No express reference is made to the Vieux Carre Commission.

Section 20. Acquisition of Property

Section 20. Subject to such restrictions as the legislature may provide by general law, political subdivisions may acquire property for any public purpose, including but not limited to acquisition by purchase, donation, expropriation, or exchange.

(d-4), (f), (f.1), (m), (m-1) (1921).

Comment: The source provision authorizes certain enumerated political subdivisions to acquire property. The revised section authorizes all political subdivisions to acquire property, subject to restriction imposed by general law.

Section 21. Servitudes of Way; Acquisition by Prescription Section 21. The public, represented by the various political subdivisions, may acquire servitudes of way by prescription in the manner prescribed by law.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §16 (1921).

Comment: The proposed Section retains the source provision and extends its applicability to include all political subdivisions instead of just parishes.

Section 22. Prescription Against State and Political Sub-

Section 22. Prescription shall not run against the state or any political subdivision or special district thereof in any civil matter, unless otherwise provided in this constitution or expressly by general law. Source: La. Const. Art. XIX, §16 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section retains the source provision exempting the state from the running of prescription, and extends its application to political subdivisions and special districts.

Section 23. Zoning Section 23. Local governmental subdivisions may enact land use regulations and zoning ordinances and create and classify therein residential, commercial, industrial, and other districts, and may regulate the preservation of the character of buildings, monuments, structures, and buildings and areas of historical importance. Local governmental subdivisions may create airport zones and regulate the heights of buildings, structures, and objects of natural growth in areas surrounding airports.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §29 (1921).

Comment: The source provision grants zoning authority to municipalities generally, and to certain named parishes. The proposed section extends the general authorization to all local governmental subdivisions.

Section 24. Industrial Areas

Section 24. The legislature may authorize parishes to create industrial areas within their boundaries in accordance with such procedures and subject to such regula-tions as the legislature shall determine. Parish industrial areas shall not be subdivisions of the state. Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §29.1 (1921).

Comment: The proposed section continues the legislative authority to permit parishes to create industrial areas, but removes the procedures and regulations in the source provision and leaves it to the discretion of the legislature.

Section 25. Assistance to Local Industry by Political Subdivisions

Section 25. (A) Subject to such restrictions as it may impose, the legislature may authorize any political subdivision, in order (i) to induce and encourage the location of or addition to industrial enterprises therein, or (ii) to provide for the establishment and furnishing of industrial plants for the conversion or processing of raw farm or agricultural products, or (iii) to provide movable or immovable property, or both, for pollution control facilities: (1) to issue bonds and use the funds derived from the sale thereof to acquire and improve industrial plant sites and other property necessary to the purposes thereof; (2) to acquire, through purchase, construction, or otherwise, and to improve, industrial plant buildings and industrial plant equipment, machinery furnishing, and appurtenances; and (3) to sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of all or any part of the foregoing.

(B) It is hereby found and declared that the purposes designed to be accomplished herein are public and proper legal purposes and will be of public benefit to the political subdivision issuing the bonds.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §§14(b.2), (b.3), 33 (1921) Comment: The source provision provides detailed procedures for the issuance of bonds by political subdivisions to induce, encourage, and aid the location of industry therein. Paragraph (A) of the proposed section adopts the principle that the legislature may authorize such bonds, and the detailed procedures for the issuance of the bonds are omitted from the constitution and should be placed in the statutes.

Section 26. Intergovernmental Cooperation

Section 26. (A) Any political subdivision may exercise and perform any of its authorized powers and functions, including the financing, jointly or in cooperation with one or more political subdivisions, either within or without the state, the United States or agencies thereof, except as the legislature shall provide otherwise by law.

(B) Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the legislature shall not by general or special law require political subdivisions to exercise or perform functions jointly or in cooperation with any other political subdivision, nor shall the legislature require consolidation of governmental functions of local governmental subdivisions; provided, however, the legislature may enact laws authorizing the consolidation of political subdivisions or the joint exercise of powers and functions by political subdivisions, but no such law shall become effective until submitted to and approved by two-thirds of the electors in each of the political subdivisions affected thereby, who vote in an election called for that purpose. Source: New

Comment: (a) Paragraph (A) authorizes intergovernmental cooperation between political subdivisions, and between political subdivisions and the federal government.

(b) Paragraph (B) prohibits the legislature from requiring intergovernmental cooperation between political subdivisions but allows the legislature to authorize intergovernmental cooperation between political subdivisions subject to voter approval.

Section 27. Recall

Section 27. The legislature shall by general law provide for the recall of state, district, parish, municipal, or ward officers, except judges of the courts of record, and except wherein otherwise provided by this constitution. The sole issue to be voted on at any recall election shall be whether such officers shall be recalled.

Comment: The proposed section retains the source provision without substantive change.

Section 28. Uniform Procedure for Calling, Conducting. and Canvassing the Returns of Certain Special Elections Section 28. When any election is required to be held in any political subdivision pursuant to the provisions of this constitution which requires submission to the electors of any proposition or question, such as the change of parish lines, change of location of parish seat, levying of taxes, issuance of bonds or incurring of other debt obligations, the assumption of debt, referendum, recall, or the adoption of a home rule charter, the election shall be called, conducted, and the returns thereof canvassed, in accordance with the law pertaining to elections for incurring bonded indebtedness and special taxes relative to local finance, as the same now exists or may hereafter be amended, or as may be otherwise provided by the legislature. vision without substantive change.

Section 30. Parish Tax Limits; Increase, Withdrawal of

Municipality from Parish Taxing Authority

Section 30. (A) The governing authority of each parish may levy an ad valorem tax for general purposes, in an amount not to exceed in any one year, four mills on the dollar of assessed valuation; however, in Orleans Parish the limitation shall be seven mills and in Jackson Parish the limitation shall be five mills. Millage rates may be increased in any parish when approved by a majority of the electors who vote in an election held for that purpose.

(B) Where millage increase is for other than general purposes, the proposition shall state the specific purpose or purposes for which the tax is to be levied, the length of time the tax is to remain in effect, and all proceeds of the tax shall be dedicated to the purpose or purposes set forth in the proposition.

(C) The amount of the parish tax for general purposes which any parish, except the parish of Orleans, may levy, without a vote of the electors, on property located wholly within any incorporated city or town, which has a population in excess of one thousand inhabitants according to the last census and which provides and maintains a system of street paving, shall not exceed one-half the tax levy for general purposes.

(D) This Section shall not be construed to repeal or affect the withdrawal of property in a municipality from parochial taxing jurisdiction, in whole or in part, by a provision of the legislative charter of the municipality in effect on the date of adoption of this constitution.

Act No. 4, §15, of 1916, as amended by Act No. 575 of

Comment: (a) The four mill limitation on the parish alimony tax, except seven mills in Orleans Parish and five mills in Jackson Parish, in the source is retained in Paragraph (A). The proposed section changes the source provision in that the general alimony tax may be increased subject to voter approval. Deleted from the source provision is the special tax for parish, district, or municipal fairs; however, any such special tax in existence at this time is ratified in Section 32, infra.

(b) Paragraph (B) gives parishes the authority to levy special taxes subject to voter approval.

(c) Paragraph (C) restates source without substantive change.

(d) Paragraph (D) restates the source except the city of Monroe is omitted as an exception from the source.

Section 31. Municipal Tax Limits; Increase

Section 31. (A) The governing authority of each municipality may levy an ad valorem tax for general purposes, in an amount not to exceed in any one year, seven mills on the dollar of assessed valuation; provided that where any municipality is, by its charter or by law, exempt from payment of parish taxes or, under legislative authority, maintains its own public schools, it may levy an annual tax not to exceed ten mills of the dollar of assessed valuation. Millage rates may be increased in any municipality when approved by a majority of the electors who vote in an election held for that purpose.

(B) Where the millage increase is for other than general purposes, the proposition shall state the specific purpose or purposes for which the tax is to be levied, the length of time the tax is to remain in effect, and all proceeds of the tax shall be dedicated to the purpose or purposes set forth in the proposition.

(C) This Section shall not apply to the city of New Orleans.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, §12 (1921).

Comment: (a) The proposed section retains the source provision limitation of seven mills on municipal alimony taxes, except, municipalities exempt from parchial taxes or those maintaining their own schools are limited to 10 mills. The provision allowing municipalities with a population of 75,000 or more to levy a special tax, not exceeding one mill to provide for three-platoon police systems is deleted. The authority of municipalities of from 15,000 to 30,000 to levy a special tax, not exceeding one and one-half mills for the maintenance of municipal employees' retirement funds is deleted. These special taxes in existence at this time are ratified in Section 32, infra.

(b) The proposed section authorizes an increase in the general alimony tax subject to voter approval.

(c) Paragraph (B) gives municipalities the authority to levy special taxes, subject to voter approval. This would allow any municipality to levy a special tax, subject to voter approval, for one or both of the enumerated purposes which is now deleted from the source (see comment (a), supra).

(d) As in the source provisions, the limitation on millage for the city of New Orleans is found in the

Section 32. Special Taxes; Ratified

Section 32. (A) Any special tax being levied by any political subdivision under prior laws or the constitution of this state when this constitution is adopted is hereby confirmed and ratified.

(B) For the purpose of acquiring, constructing, improving, maintaining and operating any work of public improvement, any political subdivision may levy special taxes when authorized by a majority of the electors who vote in an election held for that purpose.

(b) The term special taxes in this Section refers to the following taxes:

(1) The millage tax (five mills for one purpose and 25 for all purposes) political subdivisions are authorized to levy for public works. (Art. X, §10). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes (R.S. 39:801).

(2) The eight mill tax a school district is authorized to levy for schools (Art, X, $10). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes

(R.S. 39:801).

(3) The five mill tax municipalities are authorized to levy for municipal services (Art. X, §10A). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes (R.S. 39:802).

(4) The one mill tax municipalities and parishes are authorized to levy for municipal, district, and parish fairs (Art. XIV, $11). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes (R.S. 33:2701 et seq.).

(5) The one mill tax a municipality with 75,000 or more inhabitants is authorized to levy for three-platoon police systems. (Art. XIV, §12).

(6) The one-half mill tax a municipality with between 15,000 and 30,000 inhabitants is authorized to levy for municipal employees' retirement funds (Art. XIV, §12).

(7) The three mill tax New Orleans is authorized to levy for maintenance of fire and police departments and increases in pay of officers and men in in said department (Art. XIV, §25).

(8) The one mill tax certain parishes are authorized levy for capital outlay expenditures at Francis T. Nicholls State College (Art. X, §23).

(9) The five mill tax political subdivisions are authorized to levy for transportation and utility purposes (Art. XIV, $19). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes (R.S. 39:781 et seq.).

(10) Various millage taxes New Orleans is authorized to levy for sewerage, water, and drainage purposes (Art. XIV, §§23.1, 23.2, 23.5, 23.31, 23.42, 24.5).

(11) Various millage taxes political subdivisions are authorized to levy for school, road, sewerage, drainage, road lighting, fire protection, hospital service, airport, recreation, and other enumerated purposes (Art. XIV, §14). A similar provision may be found in the Revised Statutes (R.S. 39:551 et seq.).

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

all special taxes presently authorized in the 1921 Constitution.

(c) Paragraph (B) retains the source provision (Art. X, §10) authorizing political subdivisions to levy special taxes, subject to voter approval, for public works. Section 33. Political Subdivisions; Exclusive Authority to

Levy and Collect Ad Valorem Taxes

Section 33. Notwithstanding any provision contained in Article ____, Section ____ of this constitution to the contrary, the power of taxation shall not be exercised by the legislature to levy an ad valorem tax upon any property in the state, and such power shall be exclusively vested in political subdivisions to be exercised as provided in this constitution.

Source: New

Comment: (a) The proposed section vests in political subdivisions the exclusive authority to use the ad valorem tax as a source of revenue.

(b) It prohibits the legislature from levying an ad valorem tax.

License Tax

Section 34. Local Governmental Subdivisions; Occupational an occupational license tax in an amount not greater than that imposed by the state. Local governmental subdivisions may impose an occupational license tax in an amount greater than that imposed by the state when so authorized by an act passed by at least a two-thirds vote of the elected membership of each house of the legislature. Source: La. Const. Art. X, §8 (1921).

Comment: (a) The proposed section retains the source, except it eliminates certain classes of workers exempted from the license tax in the source.

(b) The legislature may authorize, by a two-thirds vote, a local governmental subdivision to levy a greater license tax than imposed by the state.

Section 35. Local Governmental Subdivisions; Sales Tax Authorized

Section 35. (A) Except as otherwise authorized in a home rule charter provided for in Sections 7 and 8 of this Article, local governmental subdivisions and school districts are authorized to levy and collect a tax upon the sale at retail, the use, the lease or rental, the consumption and storage for use or consumption of tangible personal property, and on sales of services, as defined by law; provided, however, the rate thereof when combined with the rate of all other presently imposed or future sales and use taxes, exclusive of state sales and use taxes, levied and collected within any local governmental subdivision shall not exceed three percent.

(B) No tax authorized in Paragraph (A) of this Section shall become effective until a proposition for the imposition thereof is submitted to the electors of the affected local governmental subdivision and approved by a majority of the electors who vote in the election held for that pur-

(C) The legislature shall have the authority by general law to exempt or exclude any goods or tangible personal property or services from any sales and use tax levied by a local governmental subdivision; provided, however, such exemptions or exclusions shall also apply to state sales and use taxes.

Source: New

Comment: (a) The present authority for local governmental subdivisions and school districts to levy sales and use taxes is statutory (R.S. 33:2711 et seq.). All municipalities are authorized to levy a one per cent sales and use tax subject to voter approval. Certain enumerated municipalities are authorized to levy additional sales and use taxes. Certain parishes are authorized to levy a one per cent sales tax subject to voter approval. All parish or city school boards are authorized to levy a one per cent sales tax subject to voter approval. Certain school boards are authorized to levy additional sales taxes.

(b) This Section authorizes a local governmental subdivision to levy a sales and use tax subject to voter approval and subject to the limitation that the rate in any local governmental subdivision shall not exceed three per cent. For example, this provision authorizes a municipality to increase its sales tax rate, subject to voter approval, up to a point where its rate combined with the rate being levied by the parish and school board would equal three percent. Presently three percent is being levied in the cities of Baker, Baton Rouge, and Zachary and the parishes of East Baton Rouge and Orleans.

The legislature is authorized to exempt or exclude property and services from the local sales tax provided the property and services are exempted or excluded also from the state sales tax.

Section 36. Bonds of Political Subdivisions: General Obligations

Section 36. The full faith and credit of every political subdivision is hereby pledged to the payment of general obligation bonds issued by it under this constitution or the terms of the statute or proceedings pursuant to which they are issued. The governing authority of the issuing political subdivision shall levy and collect or cause to be levied and collected on all taxable property in the political subdivision ad valorem taxes fully sufficient to pay principal and interest and redemption premiums, if any, on such bonds as they mature.

Comment: (a) In some cases, the source provision sets forth requirements for named political subdivisions to insure that sufficient sums will be collected to pay their bonded indebtedness. In other instances, no such requirements are enumerated.

(b) This Section sets forth uniform requirements upon political subdivisions to insure repayment of their bonds.

(c) General obligation bonds are defined as those bonds, the principal and interest of which are secured by and payable from ad valorem taxes levied without limitation as to rate or amount see Paragraph (4) under Section 50.

Section 37. Taxpayer Authorization of Ad Valorem Tax

Bonds of Political Subdivisions

Section 37. General obligation bonds may be issued only subdivision issuing such bonds. Refunding bonds, even though payable solely from ad valorem taxes, need not be so authorized at an election if the indebtedness refunded is paid or cancelled at the time of the delivery of the refunding bonds, or if money, or securities made eligible for such purpose by law, are deposited in escrow in an adequate amount, with interest, to be utilized solely for the purpose of retiring the refunded indebtedness or bonds and paying interest thereon and redemption premiums, if any, to the time of retirement.

Comment: (a) The source provision contains authority for certain enumerated political subdivisions to incur debt and issue bonds, with the requirement that such bonds may be issued only after authorization by a vote of a majority in number and amount of the property taxpayers voting on the proposition. The proposed section extends this requirement to all general obligation bonds issued by political subdivisions and eliminates the property taxpayer requirement for voting in bond elections.

(b) The source provision authorizes certain specified political subdivisions to issue refunding bonds. The proposed section extends such authority to all political subdivisions and specifically provides that no election is needed to issue such bonds, if at the time of delivery of the bonds the indebtedness refunded is paid or cancelled or sufficient money or security is deposited in escrow.

Section 38. Limitations on Bonded Indebtedness of Political Subdivisions

Section 38. (A) General obligation bonds may be issued by any political subdivision for any single purpose which, including the existing bonds of such political subdivision incurred for the same purpose and payable solely from ad valorem taxes levied without limitation as to rate or amount. shall not exceed in the aggregate ten percent of the assessed valuation of property in the political subdivision, to be ascertained by the assessment roll for the political subdivision last completed prior to the delivery of such bonds, except that as to both parishwide school districts of all sales taxes levied, exclusive of state sales taxes, and other school districts, the limitation shall be twenty-five percent of the assessed valuation of property, and except as to general obligation industrial development bonds, such limitation shall be twenty percent of the assessed valuation of property in the political subdivision.

(B) Any municipality financing and operating its own schools and not located within a parishwide or other school district shall be regarded as and treated on the same basis for the purpose of debt limitation and shall have the same authority for all purposes of this Section as though it were such a school district.

(C) The legislature may increase the debt limitations established in this Section by general or special law passed by a two-thirds vote of the elected membership of each house.

(D) Bonds and other debt obligations payable from acreage taxes, sales and use taxes, excess revenues, special assessments, or other special revenues shall not be considered to be bonds payable solely from ad valorem taxes for all purposes of this Section.

Source: La. Const. Art. XIV, $14, ¶¶(f), (f.1) (1921). Comment: (a) The source provision provides that the political subdivisions enumerated therein shall not incur debt and issue bonds which, including the existing bonded debt for such subdivision for such purpose, shall exceed in the aggregate 10 percentum of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of such subdivision. The limitation is continued in the proposed section, except it is based on property, not just taxable property, and it is made applicable to all political subdivisions.

(b) The source provision provides that the municipality of Monroe shall be treated the same as the parishwide school district or special school district. The proposed section extends this treatment to any municipality that finances and operates its own schools, without specifically mentioning the municipality of Monroe.

(c) The source provision increases the limitation for parishwide school districts and special school districts to 25 percent for specifically enumerated purposes. The proposed section increases the limitation for such school districts for all purposes.

(d) The proposed section retains the exception from the above limits for bonds and other debt obligations issued and secured by acreage taxes, sales and use taxes, excess revenues, special assessments, or other special revenues.

Section 39. Limited Time for Contesting Bonds of Political

Section 39. (A) For a period of sixty days from the promulgation of the result of any election held for the purpose of incurring or assuming debt. issuing bonds, or levying a tax, any person in interest shall have the right to contest the legality of such election, the bond issue provided for, or the tax authorized, for any cause; after which time no one shall have any cause or right of action to contest the regularity, formality, or legality of said election, tax provisions, or bond authorization, for any cause whatsoever. If the validity of any election, tax. debt assumption, or bond issue authorized or provided for, held under the provisions of this Section, is not raised within the sixty days herein prescribed, the authority to incur or assume debt, levy the tax, or issue the bonds, the legality thereof, and the taxes and other revenues necessary to pay the same shall be conclusively presumed to be valid, and no court shall have authority to inquire into such matters.

(B) Every ordinance or resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds or other debt obligation by a political subdivision shall be published once in the official journal of the political subdivision, or if there is none, then in a newspaper having general circulation therein. For a period of thirty days from the date of the publication any person in interest may contest the legality of the ordinance or resolution, the bonds or other debt obligation authorized thereby, and of any provision therein made for the security and payment of the bonds. After this time, no one shall have any cause of action to test the regularity, formality, legality, or effectiveness of the ordinance or resolution, bonds, or other debt obligations, and provisions thereof for any cause whatever; and after this time it shall be conclusive presumed that every legal requirement for the issuance of the structure and organization, or territorial jurisdiction of an bonds or other debt obligation, including all things pertaining to the election, if any, at which the bonds or other debt obligation were authorized, has been complied with, and no court shall have authority to inquire into any such matters after the lapse of this thirty days.

Comment: (a) Paragraph (A of the proposed section makes no change in the law.

(b) The source provision sets forth requirements similar to those in Paragraph (B) of the proposed section for specified types of bond issues. The proposed section extends the requirements to all types of bond issues or debt obligations.

Section 40. Local Improvement Assessments

Section 40. (A) The legislature shall provide by special or general law the procedures by which political subdivisions levy and collect local or special assessments on real property, for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, or improving works of public improvement.

(B) Certificates of indebtedness may be issued to cover the cost of any such public improvement which shall be secured by the pledge of the local or special assessments levied therefor, and may be further secured by the pledge of the full faith and credit of the political subdivision.

(C) The governing authority of the political subdivision ssuing certificates of indebtedness payable from sources other than ad valorem taxes, and pledging its full faith and credit to the prompt payment of the principal and interest thereof, shall levy or cause to be levied on all taxable property in the political subdivision ad valorem taxes, without limitation as to rate or amount, fully sufficient to make up any deficit in the other sources of revenue pledged to the payment of the certificates.

Comment: (a) Paragraphs (A) and (B) above are a restatement of source Art. X, $13, and make no change in the law. The provisions of this proposed section are moved from the source article and placed in the proposed Article on Local Government because this type of indebtedness is an integral part of local improvement financing.

(b) Paragraph (C) above sets forth uniform requirements upon political subdivisions to insure repayment of certificates of indebtedness. In some instances, the source provision, Const. Art. XIV, $14, sets forth requirements for named political subdivision to insure that sufficient sums will be collected to pay indebtednesses; in other instances, no such requirements are enumerated.

Section 41. Revenue-Producing Property

Section 41. The legislature may authorize political subdivisions to issue bonds or other debt obligation for the purpose of constructing, acquiring, extending, or improving any revenue-producing public utility. The bonds or other debt obligation may be secured by mortgage on the lands, buildings, machinery, and equipment or by the pledge of the income and revenues of such public utility; and shall not be a charge upon the other income and revenues of the political subdivision.

Comment: The proposed section is a restatement of the source provision.

Section 42. Ports

Section 42. All deep-water port commissions and all deepwater port, harbor, and terminal districts as they are now organized and constituted including their powers and functions, structure and organization, and territorial jurisdiction, are ratified and confirmed and shall continue to exist, except that:

(A) The legislature may diminish, reduce, or withdraw frem any such commission or district, including the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans, any of its powers and functions and may affect the structure, organization, distribution. and redistribution of the powers and functions of any such commission or district, including its territorial jurisdiction, only by act passed by at least a twothirds vote of the elected membership of each house;

(B) The legislature may by law grant additional powers and functions to any such commission or district and may create new port commissions or port, harbor, and terminal districts by law; provided, however, in so doing the legislature shall not restrict or diminish the powers and functions, established deep-water port except by at least a two-thirds vote of the elected membership of each house;

(C) (1) Notwithstanding the provision of Paragraphs (A) and (B) of this Section, the legislature shall by law provide for a change in the method of selection and composition of the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans and define its territorial jurisdiction.

(2) After the exercise of authority as provided in subparagraph (1) above, the legislature may only affect the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans as provided in Paragraphs (A) and (B) of this Section, except that no change in the territorial jurisdiction of said port

(3) In the event the legislature does not exercise the authority granted in subparagraph (1) above within ten years after the adoption of this constitution, the composition and territorial jurisdiction of said board shall not be changed except in compliance with Paragraphs (A) and (B) of this Secshall affect the territorial jurisdiction of any other existing

Source: New

Comment: (a) The proposed section ratifies and confirms all existing deep-water port commissions and all deep-water port, harbor, and terminal districts.

(b) A two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature will be needed in order to diminish or reduce any power and function or affect the structure and organization or territorial jurisdiction of an existing deep-water port. However, the legislature will be able to grant additional powers and functions and create new ports by a majority vote.

(c) Within 10 years of the adoption of the new constitution, the legislature may change the territorial jurisdiction and method of selection and composition of the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans by a majority vote. After the legislature makes any change or if the legislature fails to act within 10 years, a twothirds vote of the legislature will be necessary to make the above changes.

Section 43. Levee Districts

Section 43. (A) Levee districts as now organized and constituted shall continue to exist, except that:

(1) The legislature may provide for the consolidation, division, or reorganization of existing levee districts or create new levee districts; provided, however, the members of the boards of commissioners of such districts shall be appointed or elected from residents of such district:

(2) Any levee district whose flood control responsibilities are limited to and which is situated entirely within the boundaries of one parish may be merged and consolidated into such parish under the terms and conditions and in the manner provided in Section 18 of this Article. This provision shall be self-operative.

(B) No action taken hereunder shall impair the obligation of any outstanding bonded indebtedness or of any other contract of such levee district.

Source: New

Comment: (a) Paragraph (A) provides for the continued existence of levee districts as now organized. It allows the legislature to consolidate or reorganize existing levee districts or create new districts, provided, the members of the boards of commissioners must be residents of such districts. It provides for the merger of a single-parish district into a parish government.

(b) Paragraph (B) forbids the impairment of contracts of any district.

Section 44. (A) For the purpose of constructing and mainand Refunding Bonds; Increase in Tax to Raise Additional Funds

Section 44. (A) For the purpose of contructing and maintaining levees, levee drainage, flood protection, hurricane flood protection and for all other purposes incidental thereto, the governing authority of each district, may levy annually a tax not to exceed five mills on the dollar, except the Board of Levee Commissioners of the Orleans Levee District, which may levy annually a tax not to exceed two and one-half mills on the dollar, on all taxable property situated within the alluvial portions of said district subject to overflow.

(B) Should the necessity to raise additional funds arise in any levee district for any of the purposes herein set forth, or for any other purpose related to its authorized powers and functions which may be specified by the legis-lature, the tax herein authorized may be increased; pro-vided, however, before taking effect, the necessity for the increase and the rate thereof shall be submitted to the electors of such district and no increase in taxes shall occur unless a majority of the electors in such district who vote in the election hereinabove provided for vote in favor there-

Source: La. Const. Art. XVI. §2 (1921).

Comment: (a) Paragraph (A) retains the source provision

(1) It adds flood protection as one of the purposes for which levee districts may levy a tax. The Orleans Levee District has this authority under the present constitution

(2) It adds hurricane flood protection as a purpose for which levee districts, including Orleans, may levy a tax.

(3) It removes land reclamation and the payment of existing and future indebtedness as purposes for which the Orleans Levee District may levy a tax.

(b) Paragraph (B) repeats the source provision and provides for an election procedure to raise additional funds.

Section 45. Bond Issues

Section 45. (A) Subject to the approval of the State Bond Commission or any successor thereto, the governing body of any levee district may fund the avails of said taxes or other revenues into bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness, the proceeds thereof to be used for the purposes mentioned in this Article or for the funding or payment of any outstanding indebtedness.

(B) Bonds issued under the authority of the foregoing provision shall be sold in accordance with applicable provisions of the Louisiana Revised Statutes relating to the

Source: La. Const. Art. XVI, §3 (1921). Comment: (a) The source provision requires the legislature to authorize the funding of bonds. Paragraph (A) of the proposed section allows the governing authority of a levee district to fund bonds with the approval of the State Bond Commission or any successor thereto.

(b) Paragraph (B) deletes the limitation in the source provision that the percentage of annual interest not exceed six percent and deletes the requirement that the bonds shall be sold at no less than par and accrued

interest

Section 46. Interstate Districts

Section 46. The legislature, with the concurrence of an adjoining state, may create levee districts composed of territory partly in each state, and may authorize the construc-tion and maintenance of levees wholly within another state.

Source: La. Const. Art. XVI, $4 (1921). Comment: The proposed section retains the source provision without change.

Section 47. Cooperation with Federal Government Section 47. All governing authorities of levee districts which have been, or may be created, are authorized to co-operate with the federal government in the construction and maintenance of the levees in this state, on such terms and conditions as may be provided by the federal authorities and accepted by the levee districts.

Source: La. Const. Art. XVI, $5 (1921). Comment: The proposed section retains the source provision, except it provides for acceptance by levee districts instead of state authorities.

Section 48. Compensation for Property Used or Destroyed; Tax

Section 48. (A) Lands and improvements thereon hereafter actually used or destroyed for levees or levee drainage purposes shall be paid for at a price not to exceed the assessed value for the preceding year; provided, if property used or destroyed for levee drainage purposes from a landowner shall exceed more than one-third the value of that landowner's property and improvements, the land and improvements thereon used or destroyed for such purposes shall be paid for at fair market value; and provided further, nothing contained in this Paragraph with respect to compensation for lands and improvements shall apply to batture or to property the control of which is vested in the state or any political subdivision thereof for the purpose of commerce.

(B) If the district has no other funds or resources out of which such payment can be made, it shall levy, on all taxable property situated within the district, a tax sufficient to pay for said property so used or destroyed to be used solely in the district where collected.

11th Days Proceedings—July 6, 1973

(C) Nothing contained in this Section shall prevent the appropriation of said property before payment.

Source: La. Const. Art. XVI, §6 (1921). Comment: (a) Paragraph (A) repeats the source provision with two exceptions:

(1) It deletes provisions relative to acquisition of property in and replacement of streets in municipalities of one hundred thousand population;

(2) it adds a provision requiring the compensation. at fair market value, of a landowner when the property and improvements used or destroyed by a levee district exceeds one-third the value of that landowner's

By providing for compensation at fair market value in certain circumstances, there was no intent on the part of the committee to change the nature of the exercise of the power herein conferred from that of appropriation to that of expropriation. More specifically, the rationale of Boyce Cottonseed Oil Mfg. Co. v. Board of Com'rs., 160 La. 727, 107 So. 506 (1926) and its progeny, holding that payment of the assessed value is merely a gratuity and that no payment at all is required, is approved and confirmed. However, it was felt that in certain circumstances the equities of the situation were in favor of increasing the gratuity paid to the landowner from assessed value to fair market value.

(b) Paragraph (B) retains the source but removes the one-fourth of one mill limitation on the tax that may be levied.

(c) Paragraph (C) retains the source provision. Section 49. Supremacy of Constitution

Section 49. The provisions of this constitution shall be paramount and neither the legislature, nor any political subdivision, shall enact any laws or ordinances in conflict therewith.

Source: New

Comment: Provides for supremacy of the constitution over laws and ordinances enacted by the legislature and by political subdivisions.

If, after the board reviews any test and consults with the state examiner, it concludes that any item or parts of the test were unfair or unreasonable or finds errors in the grading, it may, at its discretion, cause a regrading of the test, and, thereupon, correct or establish the appropriate employment list in accordance with the revised ratings. (B) Taxes may be levied on natural resources severed from the soil or water, to be paid proportionately by the owners thereof at the time of severance. Natural resources may be classified for the purpose of taxation, and such taxes may be predicated upon either the quantity or value of the products at the time and place of severance. No further or additional tax or license shall be levied or imposed upon oil, gas. or sulphur leases or rights, nor shall any additional value be added to the assessment of land by reason of the presence of oil, gas, or sulphur therein or their production therefrom. Likewise, severance taxes shall be the only tax on timber; however, standing timber shall be and remain liable equally with the land on which it stands for ad valorem taxes levied on said land.
(C) Political subdivisions of the state shall not levy taxes on income, natural resources severed from soil or water, or motor fuel. Any occupational license taxes levied by a political subdivision shall not be greater than those imposed by the state, and the total amount of any oc-cupational license tax levied by a parish shall be reduced by the amount of any municipal occupational license tax levied.

(D) Three-fourths of the timber severance tax, one-third of the sulphur severance tax, one-fifth of the severance tax on all other natural resources severed from the soil or water, and one-tenth of the royalties from mineral leases on state-owned property shall be remitted to the governing authority of the parish in which severance occurrs in which production is had, except, the amount of severance tax on sulphur so remitted shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars to any parish for any year and the amount of severance tax on all other natural resources severed from the soil or water so remitted shall not exceed two hundred thousand dollars to any parish for any year.

Comment: Provides for limitation on taxes on incomes, severance taxes, and taxing power of political subdivisions. Requires that taxes on incomes be equal, uniform, and graduated as did the 1921 Constitution. The references to exemption have been eliminated because "...the power to exempt from taxation. as well as the power to tax, is an essential attribute of sovereignty, and are generally granted only when and to the extent that they may be deemed to conserve the general welfare. The power to exempt may be exercised in the constitution or in a statute, unless the constitution expressly or by implication prohibits action by the legislature on the subject." (See 84 C.J.S. 414-415)

Paragraph B of Section 4 keeps the state income tax rate at no more than two percent for the lower income tax brackets. The income tax rates for the higher brackets have been removed from the constitution.

The limitation on severance taxes on natural resources represents no substantive change in the present law. The $1.03 per ton tax ceiling on sulphur is deleted since it is already statutory law. (See La. R.S. 47:633)

The limitation on the taxing power of political subdivisions has been expanded to include a prohibition of the taxing of incomes. The prohibition against political subdivisions taxing natural resources severed from soil or water and motor fuel represents no change in the present law. The limitation in occupational license taxes has been changed to include alcoholic beverages. (Art. X. §8)

The new section contains the dedications of revenue from state leases and severance taxes to political subdivisions as was in the 1921 Constitution.

Section 5. Annual Motor Vehicle License Tax

Section 5. The legislature shall impose an annual license tax of three dollars on automobiles for private use, and on all other motor vehicles, an annual license tax based upon horsepower, carrying capacity, or weight, any or all. No parish or municipality may impose any license fee on motor vehicles.

Comment: No substantial change except no parish or municipality can impose a license tax on motor vehicles.

Section 6. Forestry

Source: La. Const. Art. VI, §2, 1 (1921).

Comment: This provision is substantially the same as the first paragraph of Article VI, Section 2. The section deletes the provision of Section 2 which authorizes parish governing authorities to levy acreage taxes not exceeding two cents per acre.

Section 7. State Debt; Full Faith and Credit Obligations Section 7. (A) The state shall have no power to contract, directly or through any state board, agency, or commission, the incurring of debt or the issuance of bonds except upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature, and then only if the funds are to be used to repel invasion; suppress insurrection; provide relief from natural catastrophes; refund outstanding; indebtedness, but only to obtain a lower effective rate of interest; or make capital improvements, but only in accordance with a comprehensive capital budget, which the legislature shall adopt.

(B) If the purpose is to make capital improvements, the nature, location, and if more than one project, the amount allocated to each and the order of priority shall be stated in the comprehensive capital budget which the legislature adopts.

(C) The full faith and credit of the state shall be pledged to the repayment of all bonds or other evidences of in-debtedness issued by the state directly or through any state board, agency, or commission.

(D) The legislature, by two-thirds affirmative vote of the members elected to each house thereof, may propose a statewide public referendum for the incurrence of debt for any purpose for which the legislature is not herein authorized to incur debt.

Source: La. Const. Art. I, §2 (1921), as amended by Acts 1965, No. 168.

Comment: "The state shall have no power to contract. directly or through any state board, agency, or commission," is included to prevent evasion. against incurrence of state debt by contracting in the name of a state board, agency, or commission. Similar language added to Louisiana Constitution of 1921 by Acts 1965, No. 168 has been successful in achieving this purpose.

Under this Section state debt may be incurred only by affirmative vote of two-thirds of the elected member ship of each house of the legislature and then only for the following purposes: (1) repel invasion, (2) suppress insurrection, (3) provide relief from natural catastrophes, (4) refund outstanding indebtedness only to obtain a lower effective rate of interest, and (5) make capital improvements.

Under Louisiana Constitution of 1921, Art. I, $2, state debt may be incurred only upon two-thirds vote of elected membership of the legislature and then only for purposes (1), (2), and (5), enumerated in the immediately preceding paragraph. In this Section, in addition to emergencies listed in (1) and (2), number (3) was added as a result of the probability of occasional natural catastrophes such as floods and hurricanes due to Louisiana's geographical location. Since there exists some doubt as to whether refunding provisions must be included in state constitutions for states to have such authority, to extinguish any doubt (4) was included to authorize refunding of state debt only to obtain a lower effective rate of interest. Under (5) state debt may be incurred to make capital improvements only if the nature, location, and if more than one project, the amount allocated to each and the order priority is stated in a comprehensive capital budget which shall be adopted by the legislature. Under this Section the legislature is intended to have authority to incur indebtedness to make capital improvements only if the improvements are included in a comprehensive state capital budget. It is the intention of this Section to force utilization by the state of a longterm capital improvement plan.

All state indebtedness, whether contracted in the name of the state or in the name of a state board, agency, or commission, is secured by pledge of the full faith and credit of the State of Louisiana. After the adoption of this constitution, no revenue bonds may be issued by the state or any state board, agency, or commission Under Louisiana Constitution of 1921, Art. IV, $2 as amended by Acts 1965, No. 168, it is provided, "this prohibition (against incurrence of state debt) shall not apply to cities, towns and villages, parishes, school boards or any other local political subdivisions of any kind..." (Explanation in parentheses supplied). Omission of this language is not intended to alter existing law; this Section applies to all state debt, whether contracted directly or indirectly, and only local political subdivisions are intended to be excluded from prohibition of this Section. (Limitation on incurrence of debt by local political subdivisions is provided in this constitution by Art. ___, Section ____) granted in this constitution by Art. XI, allowing exceptions to prohibition against incurrence of state debt.

Under Louisiana Constitution of 1921, Art. IV, §2, the above quoted exception in conjunction with other constitutional provisions authorizes issuance of bonds supported by the full faith and credit of the state by various agencies such as Port of New Orleans (Louisiana Contion of 1921, Art. VI, §16 et seq.). Omission from this Section of the above quoted exception is intended to alter existing law so that only bonds supported by the full faith and credit of the state may be issued and then only by affirmative vote of two-thirds of the elected membership of each house of the legislature.

Section 8 . State Debt; Interim Emergency Board Section 8 . (A) The Interim Emergency Board hereby is created and shall be composed of the governor, the state treasurer, the legislative auditor, the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and the chairman of the House Ap-

(B) During the interim between sessions of the legislature, whenever it is determined by majority vote of the Interim Emergency Board that an emergency exists, and then only for a purpose for which the legislature may appropriate funds, after having obtained, as provided by law, the written consent of two-thirds of all members elected to each house of the legislature, the Interim Emergency Board may appropriate from the State General Fund, or borrow upon the full faith and credit of the state an amount to care for an emergency, which is an event or occurrence not reasonably anticipated by the legislature.

- (C) The aggregate of indebtedness outstanding at any one time and the amount appropriated from the State General Fund for the current fiscal year, under the authority of this Section, shall not exceed one-tenth of one percent of total state revenue receipts for the previous fiscal year.
- (D) Each fiscal year, as a first priority, there hereby is allocated from the State General Fund an amount sufficient to pay any indebtedness incurred during the preceding fiscal year under the authority of this Section.

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §§1(a) and 17 (1921). Comment: The Board of Liquidation of the State Debt, created pursuant to Louisiana Constitution of 1921, Art. IV, $1(a), is abolished; the Interim Emergency Board is created with powers, duties, and fuctions different from the Board of Liquidation of the State Debt.

Under this Section it is intended the Interim Emergency Board is authorized to appropriate from the State General Fund or to borrow upon the full faith and credit of the state only if the following conditions are met: (1) Certification by the board that there exists an emergency, which is an event or occurrence not reasonably anticipated by the legislature;

Note: It is not intended the Interim Emergency Board shall have authority to appropriate from the State General Fund or to borrow upon the full faith and credit of the state for any cause which already has been considered by the legislature or which reasonably could have been foreseen by the legislature.

(2) Receipt of written consent by two-thirds of all members elected to each house of the legislature;

(3) The emergency shall be for a purpose for which the legislature may appropriate funds;

(4) The total amount of indebtedness outstanding at any time, and the amount appropriated from the State General Fund for the current fiscal year, under the authority of this Section, shall not exceed one-tenth of one percent of total state revenue receipts for the previous fiscal year.

Note: "Total state revenue receipts" is intended to include all revenue receipts, whether or not of a tax nature. Therefore, inclusive are federal grants, mineral revenues, etc.

Section 9 . State Debt; Maximum Debt Service Expense for All Purposes

Section 9. The legislature shall enact no law authorizing the incurrence of state debt, whether contracted directly by the state or indirectly through a state board, agency, or commission, if incurrence of the indebtedness would result in total annual debt service requirements on all state obligations, whether outstanding or authorized and unissued, exceeding an amount equal to fifteen percent of the average total revenues from state sources available for debt service for the preceding three years. Source: New

Comment: Under this Section total state indebtedness, whet contracted directly by the state or throught any state board, agency, or commission, and whether outstanding. authorized and unissued, or proposed, shall not result in total annual debt service requirements exceeding 15 percent of the average total revenues from state sources for the preceding three years.

As used in this Section, "total revenues from state sources" includes only state funds available for debt service. Thus, inclusive not only are tax collections, but also all other state revenues. However, federal funds are excluded. Nothing contained herein is intended to prevent the use of federal funds for debt service requirements. But it is not intended federal funds, even if available for debt service requirements, should be included in "total state revenue receipts" for calculation of total state indebtedness permissible under this Section.

As used in this Section, "debt service requirements" is intended to mean principal and interest due on all state obligations, regardless of the manner of incurrence, and irrespective of status of the obligations, whether outstanding, authorized and unissued, or proposed.

Many states have avoided constitutional limitations on state debt by utilization of one or more concepts, the most often employed being the following: (1) revenue bonds and the special fund doctrine: this is a juris-prudential rule, followed in some states, which provides that issuance of revenue bonds, secured solely by revenue from designated sources not resulting directly in new or additional taxes, is a form of borrowing which is not a debt and, therefore, excluded from the maximum state debt limitation; (2) state boards, agencies, and commissions: some courts have held that where the incurrence of debt is contracted in the name of a state board, agency. or commission, state debt is not incurred and, therefore, the maximum state debt limitation is not applicable. It is intended this Section will prevent any and all evasion of the state debt limitation provided herein.

Section 10. State Debt; Political Subdivisions of the State; Issuance and Sale of Obligations; State Bond Commission; Approval Required

Section 10 . (A) The State Bond Commission hereby is created and its membership and authority shall be determined by the legislature.

(B) No bonds or other obligations shall be issued or sold by the state, directly or through any state board, agency, or commission, or by any political subdivision of the state, unless prior written approval of the State Bond Commission is obtained.

Source: New

Comment: The State Bond Commission, which under present law (LSA-R.S. 39:401 et seq.) is a statutory commission, is granted constitutional status. Membership of the commission shall be determined by the legislature. It is intended the authority of the commission shall be determined by the legislature, provided this determination shall be consistent with part (B) of this Section.

No bonds or other obligations of the state or any political subdivision of the state shall be issued or sold without prior written approval of the State Bond Commission. It is intended for this requirement to be applicable irrespective of the nature of the security involved, i.e., whether obligation is supported by full faith and credit of state, full faith and credit of political subdivision of state, or by revenue bonds issued by political subdivisions.

Since the financial status of the state is affected not only by state indebtedness but also by indebtedness of the state's political subdivisions, to promote financial sta-bility and fiscal responsibility it is the intention of this Section to require approval by the State Bond Commission of the issuance or sale of all obligations by the state and its political subdivisions.

Section 11. Collection of State Funds; Bond Security and Redemption Fund

Section 11. All money received by the state or by any state board, agency, or commission, immediately upon receipt, shall be deposited in the state treasury, except money received as grants or donations or other forms of assistance when the terms and conditions thereof require otherwise, and except money received by trade or professional associations and then only if excluded by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

Subject to contractual obligations existing at the time this constitution is adopted, all state money deposited in the state treasury, except money received as grants or donations or other forms of assistance when the terms and conditions thereof require otherwise, shall be credited to a special fund designated as the Bond Security and Redemption Fund. In each fiscal year there hereby is allocated from the Bond Security and Redeemption Fund an amount sufficient to pay all obligations, including but not necessarily limited to principal, interest, premiums, sinking or reserve fund requirements, which are secured by the full faith and credit of the state and which become due and payable within the current fiscal year. Thereafter, all money remaining in the Bond Security and Redemption Fund shall be credited to the State General Fund.

Source: New

Comment: As used in this section, "All money received by the state or by any state board, agency, or commission" is intended to include all state revenue receipts, irrespective of source, with two exceptions, which are (1) money received as grants or donations or other forms of assistance when the terms and conditions thereof deposit other than in the state treasury and (2) money received by trade or professional associations and then only if excluded by affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature. The first exception is intended to include both public and private donations, grants or other forms of assistance. The second exception is intended to allow the exclusion of membership fees and other money contributed by members of trade or professional associations. Exclusion is possible only by two-thirds affirmative vote of each house of the legislature. It is the intention of this Section to allow exclusion under the second exception only where there is involved money contributed by members of trade or professional associations which money primarily is used for operating expenses.

The language "Subject to contractual obligations existing at the time this constitution is adopted" is intended to protect the holders of outstanding obligations of the State of Louisiana and its boards, agencies, and commissions. Nothing herein is intended to impair any contractual obligations existing at the time this constitu-

Under this section all obligations secured by the full faith and credit of the state additionally will be secured by the Bond Security and Redemption Fund, to which is allocated each fiscal year a sum sufficient fully to pay all obligations maturing within the current fiscal year. The Bond Security and Redemption Fund is intended to provide a first priority for payment of all obligations due and payable within the current fiscal year. After satisfaction of debt service requirements on all state obligations for the current fiscal year, the balance in the Bond Security and Redemption Fund is credited to the State General Fund.

The requirement that all state revenue receipts, with two exceptions, shall be deposited in the state treasury, with debt service requirements of the current fiscal year receiving first priority, is intended to make more meaningful the pledge of full faith and credit of the state, thereby resulting in substantial savings to the state in debt service requirement.

Section 12. Expenditure of State Funds Section 12. (A) Money shall be drawn from the state treasury only pursuant to an appropriation made in accordance with law. Each appropriation shall be for a specific sum of money and for a specified object.

(B) Total appropriations made by the legislature for any fiscal year shall not be greater than the anticipated revenues of the state.

(C) An appropriation shall be for a term no longer than one year, and the legislature shall provide for the publication of a regular statement of receipts and expenditures of all state money at intervals of not more than one year.

(D) Except as otherwise provided in this constitution appropriation shall allocate to any object the proceeds of any particular tax or a part or percentage thereof except when required by the federal government for participation in federal programs.

(E) No appropriation shall be made under the head or title of contingent, nor shall an appropriation be made except for public purposes.

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §§1, 10 (1921).

Comment: It is the intention of this Section that money can be withdrawn from the state treasury only pursuant to an appropriation in accordance with law, inclusive of which are the following requirements:

(A) An appropriation must be for a definite amount and for a specified purpose. This represents no change in substance of La. Const. of 1921, Art. IV, §10;

(B) The total appropriations authorized by the legislature during any fiscal year shall not exceed anticipated state revenues. "Anticipated state revenues" is intended to mean estimated state revenues as enumerated in the budget estimate submitted to the legislature each year by the governor pursuant to Article XI, Section 13 of this constitution. This provision is new and is intended to promote fiscal responsibility;

(C) The term of an appropriation shall be no longer than one year. This represents a change in La. Const. of 1921 Art. IV, §1 which imposes a maximum term of two years. This change was prompted by reduction of frequency of regular legislative sessions from two years to one year. Also the legislature shall provide at least once each year a publication of an accounting of all state money, including detailed information regarding receipts and expenditures.

(D) In Subdivision "D" of this Section the language "except as otherwise provided in this constitution" to severance tax dedications contained in Article Section --- of this constitution. It is the intention of this Section to abolish all other dedications, which makes a pledge of the full faith and credit of the state much more meaningful, thereby resulting in substantial savings to the state through decreased interest expense on state indebtedness, which always is secured by the full faith and credit of the state under Article XI, Section

(E) Subdivision "E" of this section prohibits contingency appropriations as provided in La. Const. of 1921,

(F) No appropriation shall be made except for public purposes. No similar provision is contained in Louisiana Constitution of 1921. Addition herein is intended to prohibit appropriations for other than public purposes. Section 13. Management of State Funds; Budgets.

Section 13. (A) The governor shall submit to the legislature, at a time fixed by law, a budget estimate for the next fiscal year setting forth all proposed state expenditures and anticipated state revenues, and shall submit a general appropriation bill to authorize the proposed ordinary operating expenditures and, if necessary, a bill or bills containing recommendations in the budget for new or additional revenues.

(B) The governor shall submit to each regular session of the legislature a proposed five-year capital outlay program with a request for implementation of the first year of the five-year program. All capital outlay projects approved by the legislature shall be made a part of the comprehensive state capital budget which shall be adopted by the legislature.

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §9 (1921).

Comment: It is the intention of this Section to require the governor to submit to the legislature each year not only a budget estimate of the next fiscal year setting forth all proposed state expenditures and anticipated state revenues in addition to a general appropriation bill for authorizing ordinary operating expenses but also a five-year capital cutlay budget with a request for implementation of the first year of the fiveyear program. Also, all capital improvements must be included in this comprehensive state capital budget which shall be adopted by the legislature.

It is the intention of this Section to force capital budgeting by the state.

Section 14. Management of State Funds; Public Record Section 14. All reports and records of the collection, expenditure, investment, and use of state moneys and all reports and records relating to state obligatios shall be matters of public record except returns of taxpayers and matters pertaining thereto. Source: New Comment: No substantive change in existing statutory law is intended, and it is not the intention of this Section to require returns of taxpayers and matters pertaining thereto to be public records. Also, it is not the intention of this section to prescribe exchange of informa-tion between this state and the United States or other states.

Section 15. Management of State Funds; Investment Section 15. All money available for investment in the custody of the state treasurer shall be invested as provided by law.

Source: New

Comment: This Section represents no change in existing statutory law. It is the intention of this Section that the legislature shall determine the manner and procedure for investment of state money.

Section 16. Management of State Funds; Donation, Loan, or Pledge of Public Credit

Section 16. (A) The funds, credit, property or things of value of the state, or of any political corporation thereof, shall not be loaned, pledged, or donated to or for any person or persons, associations or corporations, public or private, shall the state nor any political corporation pur-chase or subscribe to the capital stock or stock of any corporation or association whatever or for any private en-

(B) Nothing contained in this Section shall prevent intercooperation between the state and its political corporations or between political corporations, or between the state or its political corporations and the United States, or between the state or its political corporations and any public or private association or corporation or individual for a public purpose.

Source: La. Const. Art. IV, §12 (1921).

Comment: It is the intention of this Section to allow the loan, pledge, or donation of property of the state or its political corporations only for public purposes. This Section represents a change in substance of the source provision, which prohibited any funds, credit, property or things of value of the state or its political corporations to be loaned, pledged or donated to any person for any purpose excluding certain exceptions contained within the source provision. Under this Section the term "public purpose" is left to interpretation by the judiciary so that there is sufficient flexibility for a lasting and workable document.

Contra to La. Const. of 1921, Art. IV, $12, under this Section intercorporation is permissible between the state and its political corporations or between political corporations or between the state and its political corporations and the United States.

Section 17. Release of Obligation to State, Parish or Municipal Corporation; Taxes on Confiscated Property

Section 17. The legislature shall have no power to release or extinguish, or to authorize the releasing or extinguishment, in whole or in part, of the indebtedness, liability, or obligation of any corporation or individual to the state, or to any parish or municipal corporation thereof; provided, that the heirs to confiscated property may be released from all taxes due thereon at the date of its reversion to them; however, whenever any immovable property has been forfeited or adjudicated to the state for the nonpayment of taxes due prior to January 1, 1880, and the state did not sell or dispose of the same, or disprocesses the tax debtor or his heirs successors, or assigns prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1921, it shall be presumed conclusively that such forfeiture or adjudication was irregular and null, or that the property has been redeemed, and the state and its assigns shall be estopped forever from setting up any title to such property by virtue of such forfeiture of adjudication.

Comment: This section represents no change in substance of the source provisions, but there is modernization of This section is retained in this constitution language. for protection of certain property rights and for quieting to the disputes in addition to prohibiting the legislature from releasing or extinguishing obligations in favor of the state or its political subdivisions, provided heirs to confiscated property may be released from all taxes due thereon at the date of its reversion.

Section 18. Legislation to Enable Compliance with Federal Laws and Regulations to Secure Federal Aid in Capital Improvement Projects

Section 18. The legislature may enact legislation to enable the state, its agencies, boards, and commissions, and political subdivisions of the state and their agencies to comply with federal laws and regulations in order to secure federal participation in the cost of capital improvement projects.

source: La. Const. Art. IV, §18 (1921).

Comment: This Section represents no change in substance of the source provision, but there is modernization of language. As provided in the source provision, this Section is intended to grant power to the legislature to enact legislation to authorize relocation payments in addition to just compensation for property rights if necessary to participate in federal capital improvement projects.

To my fellow delegates and our staff, all of whom I consider to be my personal friends and co-workers in this most noble endeavor. My family and I wish to thank you for the many kindneses, flowers, prayers, and gracious notes in

My present schedule calls for very restricted activities. I have insisted that my reading of the proceedings of the Convention be granted me and that I be allowed to express my views by correspondence. I hope to return to our body as soon as my God and my physician will allow. Although I may be absent from the session, rest assured that my ideas will be presented through associates and I shall participate as much as possible.

Thank you again for your prayers and kindness.

HARVEY W. CANNON, JR.

Supreme Court STATE OF LOUISIANA New Orleans

Justice Albert Tate New Orleans, La.

Dear Justice Tate:

I have been advised that the Constitutional Convention is considering a proposal, whereby the legislature will reapportion itself periodically, but if it fails to do so that the State Supreme Court will have the duty to reapportion on the petition of the Attorney General.

I am opposed to such a provision for at least two reasons:
(1) It violates, at least in spirit, the separation of powers between the legislative and judicial branches.

(2) It places upon this court the administrative or political duty of reapportionment, in a proceeding outside the form of a law suit between competing parties.

I trust that you will give this matter earnest consideration and, if you think it advisable, you may acquaint the members of the convention with my views on the matter.

Sincerely,

JOE W. SANDERS Chief Justice

JWS/ph

AMENDMENT No. 2-

Strike out Amendment No. 1 proposed by Delegate Casey and adopted by the Convention on August 9, 1973.

Point of Order

Delegate Triche sought a ruling from the Chair as to whether an amendment to a Section, which Section itself was submitted and adopted as an amendment, would be in order after the vote on the amendment creating a new Section had been reconsidered, and the motion to reconsider laid on the table.

Ruling of the Chair

The Chair ruled that such amendments were in order in that: (a) the original amendment had the effect of adding a new Section which, in equity, should be subject to amendment; and, (b) the motion to reconsider the passage of the original amendment adding a Section when tabled, went to the determination of the addition of the new Section and did not have further consideration of the language then contained in that added Section, as the Rules require consideration Section by Section.

The Chair amplified the ruling, ruling further that a motion would lie to adopt a Section added to a proposal by way of amendment, further discussion or amendment, if any.

To the Chairman and Delegates of the Constitutional Convention:

Introduced by Delegate Bergeron:

A PROPOSAL

Relative to amending the constitution.

Introduction of Proposals

COMMITTEE PROPOSAL No. 20-

Introduced by Delegate A. Jackson, Chairman, on behalf of the Committee on Bill of Rights and Elections and Delegates Dunlap, Guarisco, Jenkins, Roy, Soniat, Stinson, Vick, Wall, and Weiss:

A PROPOSAL

Making general provisions for elections.

Lies over under the rules.

Motion

On motion of Delegate A. Jackson, the Convention altered the Order of Business to take up Petitions, Memorials and Communications at this time.

Petitions, Memorials and Communications

COMMITTEE REPORT WITH RESPECT TO COMMITTEE PROPOSAL No. 20-

ARTICLE X. ELECTIONS

Section 1. Free Elections Section 1. Elections shall be freely and fairly conducted on a periodic basis. No law shall interfere with the free exercise of the right to vote.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. VIII, §4 (1921); Ill. Const. Art. III, §3 (1970).

Comment: The 1921 provision referred to fairness in party primaries. The proposed section states that elections in general shall be freely and fairly conducted and prohibits laws that would interfere with the exercise of the right to vote. The section is designed to establish a general standard for the conduct of elections.

Section 2. Secret Ballot

Section 2. Voting shall be by secret ballot, and all ballots cast shall be counted publicly and preserved inviolate until any election contests have been settled.

Source: New; see, however La. Const. Art. VIII, §§7, 15, 22

Comment: The 1921 provisions spelled out in great detail the procedures for voting and counting ballots, some of which are now obsolete. The new provision protects the secrecy of voting and requires preservation of ballots or other records of the vote until election contests have been settled.

Section 3. Residence of Electors

Section 3. No elector shall lose a bona fide residence by temporary absence due to any employment, including military service, or while studying or visiting away from his voting district.

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §11 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision provided that one did not lose his voting residence because of absence due to government service or study. The present provision extends this principle to private civilian employment and visiting away from one's voting district.

Section 4. Political Activities Section 4. No law shall deny the right of each person to organize, join, support, or oppose any political party or organization, or to support or oppose any candidate or proposition except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Source: New

Comment: This section would protect the right of persons to associate together for political purposes except for specific prohibitions included in the constitution (i.e. civil service).

Section 5. Privilege from Arrest

Section 5. Every qualified elector shall be privileged from arrest in going to and returning from voting and while exercising the right to vote in all cases except felony or breach of the peace.

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §8 (1921).

Comment: Simplification of language; no change in substance.

Section 6. Candidacy for Public Office

Section 6. No qualified elector shall be denied the right to seek public office in the election district in which he is registered except as otherwise provided in this constitution. Source: New; see. however, New Mexico Const. Art. VII, $2 (1912)

Comment: The provision is new to Louisiana but it is the same in substance as the New Mexico provision. Its effect would be to protect the right of citizens to run for office by prohibiting the imposition of additional qualifications for office not authorized by the constitution.

Section 7. Vote Required for Election Section 7. No person shall be elected to any public office unless he has received the highest number of votes cast for that office. The legislature shall provide a method for breaking ties.

Source: New; see, however, Mont. Const. Art. IV, §5 (1972); Ariz. Const. Art. VII, §7 (1912).

Comment: The provision permits the continuance of present practice (closed primaries and general elections) with regard to election of candidates while also permitting the legislature to adopt an open primary system in the future if it so chooses. It also mandates the legislature to provide a method for breaking ties.

Section 8. Limitation on Term of Office

Section 8. No term for any public office elected by the people shall exceed four years except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Source: New; see, however, La. Const. Art. VIII, §§9, 10 (1921); Ore. Const. Art. XV, §2 (1859); and Ind. Const.

Art. XV, §2 (1851).

Comment: The 1921 provisions state that general elections, and municipal elections in New Orleans, shall take place every four years. The proposed section would establish four years as the upper limit for fixed terms unless the constitution provides otherwise. The Indiana and Oregon

28th Days Proceedings-August 9, 1973

Constitutions have substantially the same provisions as the proposed section.

Section 9. Prohibited Use of Public Funds

Section 9. No public funds shall be used to urge any elector to vote for or against any candidate, nor appropriated to any candidate or political organization.

Source: New

Comment: This provision would prohibit a candidate from using public funds in his campaign and it would also prohibit public financing of the campaigns of candidates or political organizations.

Section 10. Registrars of Voters

Section 10. The governing authority of each parish shall appoint a parish registrar of voters who shall provide such bond and receive such compensation as may be determined by law. No person shall serve as registrar of voters while a qualified candidate for any elective office.

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §18 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision, that the governing authority of each parish appoints its own registrar, is retained. The 1921 provision which constitutionalizes the Board of Registration is deleted. The present stringent prohibitions against registrars holding subsequent public office for twelve months are relaxed somewhat but a registrar must vacate his office if he qualifies for any elective office.

Section 11. Commissioners and Poll Watchers

Section 11. The legislature shall provide for the selection of commissioners and poll watchers at every election.

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §20 (1921).

Comment: The detailed provisions on commissioners and poll watchers in the 1921 Constitution are reduced to a simple mandate to the legislature.

Section 12. Election Returns

Section 12. Returns of elections for public officials shall be made to the secretary of state be made to the secretary of state. Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §14 (1921).

Comment: The 1921 provision required returns of elections of civil offices commissioned by the governor to be made to the secretary of state unless otherwise provided in the constitution. The present provision requires all returns to be made to the secretary of state without exception.

Section 13. Registration Challenges

Section 13. A person may contest in the district court his denial of registration, or denial of his request to have removed from the rolls any names placed or standing thereon illegally which cases shall have preference over all others.

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §5 (1921).

Section 14. Election Contests

Source: La. Const. Art. VIII, §12 (1921).

Section 15. Election Fraud

Section 15. No person shall register and vote in more than one place, nor offer or receive anything of value in exchange for a vote, nor engage in any other form of election fraud. The legislature shall enact laws to suppress such activities, and penalties in such cases may include suspension of the right to vote and hold office for a period not to exceed five years.

Source: La, Const. Art. VIII. §23 (1921).

Comment: Simplification of language with details of procedure deleted. In addition, instead of permanent loss of political rights for election fraud, the legislature may only suspend such rights for five years.

Section 16. Code of Elections

Section 16. The legislature shall provide for a code of elections.

Source: New

Comment: This is a new section which simply mandates the legislature to provide for an elections code.

Section 20. (A) Whenever a majority of the statewide elected officials determine that any other such official is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, they shall transmit to the presiding officer of each house of the legislature and to such official, and shall file in the office of the secretary of state, their written declaration that such official is unable to exercise the powers and perform the duties of his office. Thereafter the constitutional successor shall assume the office as acting official unless, within forty-eight hours after such filing in the office of the secretary of state, such official files in said office and transmits to said presiding officers his written counter-declaration that he is able to exercise such powers and perform such duties.

(B) The legislature shall convene at noon on the third calendar day after the filing of any counter-declaration, which may be filed by such official at any time. Should two-thirds of the elected members of each house of the legislature fail to adopt a resolution within seventy-two hours declaring that probable justification for the determination that inability exists, such officer shall continue or resume in office.

(C) Should two-thirds of the elected members of each house so adopt a resolution declaring that probable justification exists for the declaration of inability, the constitutional successor shall assume the powers and duties of the office and such resolution shall be transmitted forthwith to the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

(D) By preference and priority over all other matters, the supreme court shall determine the issue of inability after due notice and hearing, by a majority vote of members elected to said court under such rules as it may adopt.

(E) A judgment of the supreme court affirming inability may be reconsidered by the court, afger due notice and hearing, either upon its own motion or upon the application of such official. Upon proper showing and by majority vote of its elected members, the court may, upon such reconsideration, determine that no inability then exists, whereupon such officer shall immediately resume the powers and duties of his office.

Delegate Willis moved to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was adopted, and on his own motion, the motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Motion

32nd Days Proceedings-August 17, 1973

Opening Remarks

Mr. Chairman,

Gentle Ladies and Gentlemen:

Notwithstanding the gallant support of the coauthors of this amendment, assuring its approval, I cannot be studious of brevity with a full heart. It is the sense of omnipresent duty which pursued me to this podium. I do not appeal to you from lip to ear; I appeal from heart to heart.

I rise, with reluctance, to express my aversion to a sentence in an article of the Judiciary Plan for which we are so much obliged to the honorable men who laid it before us.

After you attentively listed to prayer this morn, you stood at attention with hand over heart and repeated a Pledge of Allegiance to the red, white, and blue bunting on this platform, which is a symbol of our union, and ended by saying ". . . Justice For All." This you said. Did you mean it?

With the virtuous education and dedication you have, I warrant you did, because no time is good time to tell ourselves or each other an untruth, which immediately compels me to recall the final advice of Polonius to his son, Laertes. upon the latter's departure, in the tragedy of the Prince of Denmark by the Bard of Avon:

"This above all: To thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, HAMLET I, iii.59. Especially at this time, heed God's monitor in your bosom-conscience. On this side of the grave, there is no greater luxury of enjoyment than a clear conscience and sense of duty performed, righteousness is always an evidence of greatness and honor. Wrong is the property of small souls.

Your loyality is due to no mortal man in authoring this Constitution; it is due to good government-Justice For All.

I ask you to please your constituents and so the public at large. If you do what is right, the consequences are nothing and you clothe yourself in armor that the arrows of consequences can never penetrate, and only nature is responsible; if you do wrong, you are responsible for all the consequences to the last sigh.

Much evidence was heard by the Committee on the Judiciary. The totality of that sponsoring the disparity of terms of district judges whereby those serving within the crescent of this mighty and muddy Mississippi, a block away, should have double the terms of all other judges in Louisiana is that campaign costs are higher in that half-moon area. If you project that argument vis-a-vis other officials in any branch of our government, you will see how ludicrous it is to measure the terms of officials by the costs of campaigns. So, I do not belabor the point. Although a majority of the committee embraced the argument from that evidence, I am inclined to a contrary opinion, because the term of a judge should not depend upon its price or the size, population or configuration of an area.

I cannot admonish you enough that equal judges should have equal terms and that the bad habit of history, another argument for disparity of terms, should not be repeated in this Constitution in total violation of Justice For All.

I am sorry to dissent from the proposal of the committee to which I have been assigned, but my heart is full of contempt for injustice, so I must exclaim:

"Give sorrow words; the grief that does not speak whispers the o'er-fraught heart and bids it break." WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, MACBETH IV, iii.209.

I envy the happy moment so soon to arrive when you will restore justice to our district judges by carpeting our voting board in green the color most favored by God in carpeting

And therefor if there are no further speakers I move the amendment and am content with the satisfaction of having poured my heart and given my frank opinion and done my duty.

Thank you.

Closing Remarks

In the name of justice, I adjure you to deal fairly with judges. Be loyal to justice. Beware you do not betray it or our district judges. They await your decision with composure and fortitude and with union, justice, and confidence, the three words written on our state seal which is lighted in front of this podium.

You may not, you must not deprive justice to judges. My calm analysis of the evidence supplied the committee on the Judiciary demonstrates to me that there was no valid evidence to support unequal terms for equal judges. Why is equality so difficult to understand or to live by?

I plead for our district judges nothing more than that justice which they or you would mete out to the humblest citizen: Equal Justice. If equality is part of justice, then justice requires equality. That is no more arguable than the ten commandments.

I am calm and confident that you will lean on your daily pledge to old glory and glorify your vote for justice for all judges and receive the blessings and honor of our people by so doing. I am equally confident that you will vote for union, justice, and confidence as I am that you will vote for justice for all, including our district judges.

Because I wish our decision remembered with undiminished interest, I request the vote on the amendment to be recorded, Mr. Chairman.

Delegate Toomy sent up a floor amenement, which was read as follows:

COMMITTEE REPORT WITH RESPECT TO COMMITTEE PROPOSAL NO. 24 ARTICLE XIII. CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

Section 1. Amendments

Section 1. (A) An amendment to this constitution may be proposed by joint resolution at any session of the legislature. If two-thirds of the members elected to each house concur in the resolution, pursuant to all the procedures and formalities required for passage of a bill except submission to the governor, the secretary of state shall cause the proposed amendment to be published in the official journal of each parish once within not less than thirty nor more than sixty days preceding the next election for representatives in the legislature of Congress.

Source: La. Const. Art. XXI, §1A (1921).

Comment: Simplification of language with little change of substance. Publication of proposed constitutional amend-ments in the official journal of each parish is to take place once instead of twice. The new requirement that amendments be subject to the formalities of bills eliminates the necessity for paragraph 1D of the 1921 Constitution which is deleted entirely.

(B) If a majority of the electors voting for or against the proposed amendment shall approve it, then it shall become part of this constitution, effective twenty days after the governor has proclaimed its adoption, unless he amendment otherwise provides. However, no proposed amendment affecting five or fewer political subdivisions shall become part of this constitution unless a majority of the electors voting thereon in the state and also a majority, in the aggregate, of the electors in the affected areas vote in favor of adoption of the proposed amendment. Source: La. Const. Art. XXI, §1B (1921).

Comment: Simplification of language with little change of substance. Provisions dealing with reapportionment of the legislature are deleted because covered elsewhere in the constitution. In addition, details of legislative procedure are deleted.

(C) When more than one amendment is submitted at the same election, each shall be submitted so as to enable the electors to vote on them separately. A proposed amendment shall be confined to one object and may set forth the entire article or articles to be revised or only the sections or other subdivisions which are to be added or in which a change is to be made; provided that a section or other sub-division may be repealed by reference. The proposed amend-ment shall have a title containing a brief summary of the changes proposed.

Source: La. Const. Art. XXI, §1C (1921). Comment: Simplification of language with no change of substance. Paragraph 1E of the 1921 Constitution, which

Section 2. Convention Called by Legislature

Section 2. Whenever two-thirds of the members elected to each house consider it desirable to revise, alter, or amend this constitution, they may recommend to the electors at the next election for representatives to the legislature or Congress to vote for or against a convention for that purpose. If a majority of the electors voting on the proposition approve it, the legislature shall provide at its next session shall be ineligible as a candidate for election to the judge-for calling such a convention. The convention shall consist ship. of delegates elected from the same districts and having the same qualifications as state representatives. The legislature may also provide for not more than fifteen delegates to be appointed by the governor. At a special election called for that purpose, the proposed constitution and any alternative propositions agreed upon by the convention shall be submitted to the people for their ratification or rejection.
